U.S. Aides Say Khrush Forgot Spies in Skies

Midas Satellites Able To Spot Red Launches, Give Instant Warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials reported today good progress in the development of a system of spy satellites designed to detect Russian missile launching almost instantly and radio back warning.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev neglected, perhaps intentionally, to mention the U.S. Midas satellite system Friday in announcing creation of a new Russian "global rocket" that he said was able to avoid U.S. radar warning stations.

At least two experimental Midas satellites have been sent aloft. One of them was credited with spotting a Titan missile only 90 seconds after the Titan took off from Cape Canaveral, Fla., last Oct. 25.

Other models may have been shot into polar orbits since then, but the Air Force has drawn tight secrecy around the program.

Also cloaked for security reasons is a related spy in the sky project called Samos. The Samos satellites are designed to take pictures of military bases in Russian territory or any other area from hundreds of miles in space.

Officials said both programs were moving along without any serious difficulties. The two spy satellite systems may be operational within a couple of years.

Military authorities were not folted by Khrushchev's claim that Russian scientists have created a new intercontinental rocket that they call global.

Observers recalled that when Russia made its first claim to having successfully tested an intercontinental missile, it said the rocket could hit any spot on the globe. That was more than 4 1/2 years ago—on Aug. 26, 1957.

It was suggested that Khrushchev Friday could have meant a missile able to travel somewhat over 12,000 miles, rather than a rocket built to circle the earth.

A rocket with a range of more than 12,000 miles could reach about halfway around the world, which has a 25,000-mile circumference. Thus, nearly every point on the globe would be within its reach, depending on the direction in which it was fired.

U.S. missilemen have fired at least four Atlas ICBMs more than 9,000 miles. Friday, the Air Force successfully tested a Titan II rocket calculated to have a potential of perhaps 12,000 miles. The first test shot of the Titan II, from Cape Canaveral, was described as covering more than 5,000 miles into the Southern Atlantic.

In his Moscow speech, Khrushchev said the new Russian rocket was invulnerable to antimissile weapons.

The United States is working on several approaches to the missile-killing problem. The most advanced of these is the Army's Nike-Zeus—but Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says there are serious weaknesses in the system.

Nonetheless, McNamara said recently, the Russians do not have an antimissile system even as advanced as the Nike-Zeus.

Once Around Roundtown

DANNY O'HICKS, ROGER O'Clarke, Chuck O'Spangler, and Gary O'Hardman and Dave O'Horn, starting lineup for the Logan Elm Braves last night, are scheduled to play Fort Frye at 8 p. m. today in the Class "A" Regional Tournament at Athens. Here's hoping the "luck o' the Irish" will be with them in the bout.

VISITORS at Athens last night for the basketball tournament were "impressed" by the special merchandise being offered today in celebration of St. Patrick's Day. One basketball fan reported a tavern near the OU campus was advertising green beer on tap.

Castro Threatens Purge of Leaders

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro charged today that Cuba's revolutionary leaders were abusing their authority, mistreating the public and creating general chaos.

Sweeping changes must be made, he said.

"The revolution needs to revise all the revolutionary nuclei and all the political apparatus of the revolution to do away with the errors and abuses and to gain good performance," he declared in a televised address monitored here.

"We have to stop tolerating poor performance and errors," he said. "Those who are useless will not continue in their positions."

Castro singled out no individuals but he had particularly biting criticism for the revolutionary defense committees. These groups—with representatives in every city block, in all factories and on farms—are responsible for watching their neighbors and coworkers for signs of counterrevolutionary attitudes.

His sharp denunciation came during a postmidnight speech, his second attack of the week on his own regime. He ordered rationing Monday and criticized Cuba for not meeting food production goals.

The prime minister said he had talked a few days ago with several women who complained they had been humiliated in public and treated as counterrevolutionaries when they actually supported the regime wholeheartedly.

"We have to increase public vigilance against errors and in justices," he shouted. "No one has the right to commit injustices and he who does so is an enemy of the revolution."

Some people, he said, "think they are more revolutionary than anybody and have the right to mistreat and humiliate others. There are people who have created chaos in the organisms of the state with their mania for putting and taking and their abuse of authority."

Castro addressed graduates of a school for women who will train former domestic workers in other skills.

He called for complete equality of the sexes—"a day in which the women may work equally with men and have the same opportunities. Only without privileges, without sectarianism of any class can the errors, injustices and wrongs of the political apparatus be rectified."

Castro's address climaxed a week during which he surged back into the limelight after a period of apparent retirement that brought rumors he was being eased out as Cuba's leader.

Judge Says Phone Rate Cut Due Here

Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer today in a letter directed to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio indicated that a reduction is due in intrastate long distance phone rates by the local General Telephone Co. and other "independents."

Judge Ammer specified other "independents" as being companies not affiliated with Ohio Bell. His letter to the PUCO came as the result of a recent announcement by Ohio Bell that rates will be reduced for intrastate long distance calls, effective May 1.

According to General Telephone officials here today, it is expected that their firm will conform with the new joint services rate schedule.

The local judge, while serving as Prosecuting Attorney for Pickaway County in 1955, filed a case with the PUCO objecting to "independent" phone companies raising their long distance rates each time Ohio Bell did. Ammer contended it was "unjustified for the independent companies to follow suit."

SEVERAL hearings were conducted after Ammer filed his petition and considerable testimony was given in Columbus.

Ex-GI Held For Handing Data to Reds

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — George John Gessner, 25, a former U.S. Army nuclear technician, has been charged with passing classified information to the Soviet Union.

The charges against Gessner, now confined at Fort Leavenworth for desertion, were filed Friday by Newell A. George, U.S. attorney for Kansas. They stemmed from investigation of several months by the Internal Security Division of the Justice Department.

The complaint alleges that Gessner communicated restricted data to a representative of the Soviet Union in Mexico City while he was stationed at Ft. Bliss, Tex. Gessner, a brown-haired, blue-eyed native of Homestead, Pa., was a nuclear maintenance man and worked on nuclear warheads and missiles at Ft. Bliss.

Gessner will be released from the disciplinary barracks at Ft. Leavenworth to the custody of U.S. marshals and FBI agents Monday. He then will be taken to Topeka to appear before U.S. District Court Judge Arthur J. Stanley for arraignment.

If convicted, Gessner could be sentenced to death, life imprisonment or a long prison term under the Atomic Energy Act.

He Flunks Drives Test, Dies of Heart Attack

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP)—A Harrison County man who had just failed his written driving test collapsed and died while taking his road test Friday. Police said John E. Stewart, 41, of Jewett apparently suffered a heart attack.

was given in Columbus.

On July 14, 1955, the PUCO ordered that where toll calls are completed partly or completely over Ohio Bell lines, independent phone companies (including General) could properly concur with Ohio Bell rates. On April 20, 1956, it was noted that concurrence was proper when toll calls were completed between two companies even though Ohio Bell lines were not involved.

The notification further specified that where toll calls were between exchanges of the same company entirely over its own lines, concurrence with Ohio Bell rates was not justified.

Judge Ammer stated it was in complaint of the latter type of call that his case was filed. He said the local independent company has been upping its rates between its own exchanges every time Ohio Bell was granted a long distance increase. And yet in those calls, O' Bell lines were not involved in any way, he asserted.

The judge said: "There was no appeal from these orders either by myself as Prosecuting Attorney nor by any of the independent companies. The orders, therefore, became effective and are still in full force."

Judge Ammer commented that he felt it was his duty to point out this matter for the attention of the PUCO in light of the Ohio Bell rates now scheduled.

"IN THE instance where the independents were allowed to concur with Ohio Bell rates, it would seem only proper that the independents also cut their rates," he stated.

Don Colegrove, district commercial manager for the General Telephone Co., said today that his firm had received no proposed rate reduction schedule from Ohio Bell or the Public Utilities Commission.

However, Colegrove stated, when Ohio Bell files its rate reduction with the PUCO, General rates will automatically concur with joint service of Ohio Bell.

Youth Too Phone-y With His Phony Threat of Bomb

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The bomb threat evidently was phony—and the youth who allegedly made the threat, according to police, was a little too "phone-y."

A fast-talking airport secretary kept him on the telephone for 25 minutes Friday. It was his undoing.

Jim Lee Wade, 19, of Dayton, is held under $2,500 bond after appearing before a U.S. commissioner.

Delcee Hollin, secretary to the manager of Cox Municipal Airport, told authorities she received a bomb threat call just before noon. She managed to keep the caller on the line, trapped him into giving his address and was able to relay the information to police Chief Paul Price — whom she formerly served as secretary.

Officers rushed to Wade's home and found him still on the line. He was turned over to the FBI.

Nonnuclear Bloc To Seek Suspension of U.S. Tests

Cinderella Braves' Magnificent Effort Clips Rugged Fairland, 58-53, at Athens

Fort Frye Tonight

By STEVE JONES

The Logan Elm Braves adding prestige to their "cinderella" team designation, withstood a second half rally staged by the fighting Fairland Dragons last night in Grover Field House, Athens, and upended the highly regarded Lawrence County crew, 58-53, to gain a berth in the finals of the South-eastern Regional tournament.

It was another thriller. Logan Elm jumped to an early lead when Buck Clarke sank a jumper with less than one minute gone in the game. It lit a fire, for the Braves never trailed the remainder of the game.

Logan Elm led 16-9 at the end of the first period, and had built a 12-point margin with a little more than two minutes showing on the scoreboard clock. Fairland pulled within nine by halftime.

Gary Hardman connected on a jump shot from the top of the key to put the Pickaway Countians out front, 35-24, at the onset of the third period. The Braves and the Dragons then traded points for the first two minutes of the second half and the score stood at 39-28.

RONNIE KINGERY, a rugged cager, sparked a rally that pulled the boys from Proctorville within two points when the third canto ended. Kingery looked every bit an all-Ohio candidate as he continued to lead the rally he started for Fairland.

With 2:07 left in the game Eddie Capper swished a short jumper and Fairland was down by only two points. But the Logan Elm cagers maintained control of the ball game during those last thrilling minutes of play.

Chuck Spangler was fouled and sank a charity toss that gave the Braves a three point edge with 45 seconds remaining. The Dragons came roaring down the floor but they were tied up under their own bucket, and Logan Elm controlled the jump.

Spangler was fouled again, and he stepped to the line with the one and one in effect. He connected on the first shot but missed the second. Dave Horn tapped in the rebound and the game was on ice, 58-52, for the Braves.

With only six seconds left, Larry Guthrie connected on a charity toss for the final point in the game. He missed his second try.

Fairland, an extremely competitive team, had three returning men from a crew that lost to Ayersville by one point in the state tournament at St. John's Arena last year. The Dragons played a very aggressive brand of ball — always driving toward the bucket. They used the fast break very effectively, collecting five field goals and several fouls with this offensive weapon.

BUT THE Logan Elm defense was equal to the task that was cut out for them. In 23 previous games Fairland had averaged 70.3 points per contest. Only three times this year had the Dragon offense been held to less than 53 points and they were still winners in those games.

Keith Merrin's cagers used a collapsing man-to-man defense that kept the middle pretty well bottled up to thwart the frequent attempts the Dragons made to drive down the foul lane for close lay-ups. Few of Fairland's shots were easy.

Danny Hicks was outstanding on the boards, especially in the first half, but it was the aggressive play of Dave Horn and Roger Clarke under the bucket that allowed Hicks to get position on the rebounds.

Gary Hardman and Chuck Spangler kept the pressure on the guards, Ronnie Kingery and Vic Lewis, who has been averaging nearly 18 points a game, was held to eight.

Kingery copped scoring laurels with 24, but he hit only 40 per cent from the field, well below his usual percentage. These two boys were starters on last year's team and have been the big guns for Dragons this year.

James Harper, their big center, and other returning starter scored only three points in the game. He fouled out with 1:30 remaining in the game.

ALL EYES ON THE BALL — Immediate possession of the basketball was the objective of both Logan Elm and Fairland last night in Regional play at Athens. Going up for the agate are Fairland's Jim Harper (11) and Logan Elm's Dave Horn (41). Roger Clarke (45) of LE waits his chance. On the left Eddie Capper and Tom Day of Fairland look for an opening and Gary Hardman (43) of the Braves rushes in. The "cinderella" Braves, putting forth a mighty effort, turned back Fairland, 58-53, to reach the regional finals. The opponent tonight will be undefeated Fort Frye. (Photo by Ron Warren)

Street Conditions Come Under Study

The Circleville Service Department is taking a long look at chuck holes and bulges which have cropped up in city streets during the winter.

Extreme temperatures and precipitation have caused streets and alleys to break up. The unsightly and uncomfortable situation (to motorists) is evident all over the city.

Service Director-Engineer Ronald Sharrett said the condition is due mainly to frequent freezing and thawing, improper or no base at the streets and alleys and lack of adequate drainage.

According to the records, the Service Department has received more than 40 complaints the last month concerning poor street conditions, and at least 25 reports on impassable a-ways. Sharrett said patching at this time is only temporary, and that this procedure will be held to a minimum.

AT PRESENT the Service Department maintenance crew consists of five men who work a 7-hour day, 5-day week. Sharrett said this shortened schedule has resulted from a careful evaluation of finances available for street repair.

The service director disclosed that the trimming of finances is dictated by the desire to preserve the street fund for more productive work this summer.

In view of recent calls to his office, Sharrett said his department keeps a file on all complaints. After inspection of the problems they are categorized with respect to needed repair, he added.

Several factors are considered in regard to repair plans. Sharrett listed them as: 1. extent of the safety hazard involved; 2. severity of damage; 3. materials or equipment required; 4. state of damage; 5. controlling the work schedule of the maintenance crew; 6. nature of the complaint in regard to repair already planned.

St. Pat's Day Brings Batch Of Sunshine

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cloudless skies promises a sunny St. Patrick's Day for much of the nation today and offered possible relief from a seige of unseasonably cold weather in several Northern states.

Temperatures skidded below freezing during the night in an area from the central Rockies to New England with readings in the 20s recorded as far south as Louisville and Kansas City.

Skies were clear over the Dakotas where temperatures dipped below zero Thursday night. Huron S.D. reported 2 above at midnight, Aberdeen registered 3 degrees.

Most of the western third of the nation had partly cloudy to cloudy skies. Widely scattered showers dampened the Western plateau and Pacific Coast states. Showers also hit extreme southern Florida.

Snow flurries were scattered in the eastern Great Lakes area, the upper Ohio Valley and the northern Appalachians.

Readings were in the mild 40s and 50s in a narrow band along the Pacific Coast and from the southern Plains eastward through the Gulf states to the southern Atlantic coast. Some readings in the 60s were reported in extreme southern Florida, Texas and California.

Brazil Leads 8-Nation Group In Geneva Bid

Basic Policy Change By Kennedy To Be Required by Proposal

GENEVA (AP) — The United States appeared almost certain today to come under heavy pressure from several nonnuclear nations in the disarmament conference to suspend its plans for a series of nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere starting next month.

Brazil has taken the lead among the eight-nation middle bloc of the conference in arguing that, even without an international inspection system, atmospheric tests can be stopped now because they are detectable over great distances.

At the heart of the developing struggle is President Kennedy's announced plan to go ahead with atmospheric tests in late April unless Russia signs a test-ban treaty providing for international inspection.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk privately last Sunday that the Soviet government would not accept international inspection for a test ban. Soviet Ambassador Semyon K. Tsarapkin announced the position at a news conference Friday. He contended national inspection systems were sufficient to police a prohibition on testing.

U.S. officials regarded the Soviet declarations as a public rejection of Kennedy's terms. But they said they would not accept it as Moscow's last word on the issue. The President's offer remains open should the Soviets change their policy.

The position developing among the middle bloc of nations, however, threatens to make the tests more than a U.S.-Soviet issue. If the stand taken by Brazil finds support, U.S. diplomats would face a major challenge in winning acceptance of the American test policy.

Brazilian delegates said they believed that Russia and the United States could agree on a suspension of nuclear tests in the air, probably before the United States started its new series.

The Brazilian stand is closer to the Soviet Union's than to that of the United States. Since the Russians fired a series of about 50 test explosions in the air last fall, the immediate problem is one for Washington rather than Moscow.

Only a basic change of policy by President Kennedy would permit U.S. agreement to the suspension called for in the Brazilian proposition.

Since the President has in fact already ruled out such a suspension, the practical problem for him and Secretary of State Rusk appears to be to convince the middle bloc countries that Western security requires further development of U.S. nuclear weapons to offset gains achieved by the Soviet Union last fall.

The conference was in recess for the weekend after three sessions beginning with a ceremonial opening Wednesday.

OU Student's Wife Presents Him with Triplet Daughters

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—The wife of Larry Grunwald, 28, an Ohio University graduate assistant in mathematics, gave birth today to triplets, all girls, in Mt. St. Marys Hospital in Nelsonville. The babies each weighed 3 pounds, 12 ounces.

Grunwald's hometown is Navarre in Stark County, and Mrs. Grunwald is from near Cutler in Washington County.

The couple already have a 14-month-old son. The increase in the family will pose a problem, since Mr. and Mrs. Grunwald live in a trailer.

Dr. L. A. Hamilton of Athens who presided at the delivery, said it was his first set of triplets in about 1,000 births. They were the first in the hospital's 12-year history.

U.S. Aides Say Khrush Forgot Spies in Skies

Midas Satellites Able To Spot Red Launches, Give Instant Warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials reported today good progress in the development of a system of spy satellites designed to detect Russian missile launching almost instantly and radio back warning.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev neglected, perhaps intentionally, to mention the U.S. Midas satellite system Friday in announcing creation of a new Russian "global rocket" that he said was able to avoid U.S. radar warning stations.

At least two experimental Midas satellites have been sent aloft. One of them was credited with spotting a Titan missile only 90 seconds after the Titan took off from Cape Canaveral, Fla., last Oct. 25.

Other models may have been shot into polar orbits since then, but the Air Force has drawn tight secrecy around the program.

Also cloaked for security reasons is a related spy in the sky project called Samos. The Samos satellites are designed to take pictures of military bases in Russian territory or any other area from hundreds of miles in space.

Officials said both programs were moving along without any serious difficulties. The two spy satellite systems may be operational within a couple of years.

Military authorities were not jolted by Khrushchev's claim that Russian scientists have created a new intercontinental rocket that they call global.

Observers recalled that when Russia made its first claim to having successfully tested an intercontinental missile, it said the rocket could hit any spot on the globe. That was more than 4 1/2 years ago—on Aug. 26, 1957.

It was suggested that Khrushchev Friday could have meant a missile able to travel somewhat over 12,000 miles, rather than a rocket built to circle the earth.

A rocket with a range of more than 12,000 miles could reach about halfway around the world, which has a 25,000-mile circumference. Thus, nearly every point on the globe would be within its reach, depending on the direction in which it was fired.

U.S. missilemen have fired at least four Atlas ICBMs more than 9,000 miles. Friday, the Air Force successfully tested a Titan II rocket calculated to have a potential of perhaps 12,000 miles. The first test shot of the Titan II, from Cape Canaveral, was described as covering more than 5,000 miles into the Southern Atlantic.

In his Moscow speech, Khrushchev said the new Russian rocket was invulnerable to antimissile weapons.

The United States is working on several approaches to the missile-killing problem. The most advanced of these is the Army's Nike-Zeus—but Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says there are serious weaknesses in the system.

Nonetheless, McNamara said recently, the Russians do not have an antimissile system even as advanced as the Nike-Zeus.

Judge Says Phone Rate Cut Due Here

Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer today in a letter directed to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio indicated that a reduction is due in intrastate long distance phone rates by the local General Telephone Co. and other "independents."

He Flunks Drives Test, Dies of Heart Attack

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP)—A Harrison County man who had just failed his written driving test collapsed and died while taking his road test Friday. Police said John E. Stewart, 41, of Jewett apparently suffered a heart attack.

On July 14, 1955, the PUCO ordered that where toll calls are completed partly or completely over Ohio Bell lines, independent phone companies (including General) could properly concur with Ohio Bell rates. On April 20, 1956, it was noted that concurrence was proper when toll calls were completed between two companies even though Ohio Bell lines were not involved.

The notification further specified that where toll calls were between exchanges of the same company entirely over its own lines, concurrence with Ohio Bell rates was not justified.

Judge Ammer stated it was in complaint of the latter type of call that his case was filed. He said the local independent company has been upping its rates between its own exchanges every time Ohio Bell was granted a long distance increase. And yet in those calls, O'v Bell lines were not involved in any way, he asserted.

The judge said: "There was no appeal from these orders either by myself as Prosecuting Attorney nor by any of the independent companies. The orders, therefore, became effective and are still in full force."

Judge Ammer commented that he felt it was his duty to point out this matter for the attention of the PUCO in light of the Ohio Bell rate cuts now scheduled.

"IN THE instance where the independents were allowed to concur with Ohio Bell rates, it now would seem only proper that the independents also cut their rates," he stated.

Don Colegrove, district commercial manager for the General Telephone Co., said today that his firm had received no proposed rate reduction schedule from Ohio Bell or the Public Utilities Commission.

However, Colegrove stated, when Ohio Bell files its rate reduction with the PUCO, General rates will automatically concur with joint service of Ohio Bell.

With 2:07 left in the game Eddie Capper swished a short jumper and Fairland was down by only two points. But the Logan Elm cagers maintained control of the ball game during those last thrilling minutes of play.

Chuck Spangler was fouled and sank a charity toss that gave the Braves a three point edge with 45 seconds remaining. The Dragons came roaring down the floor but they were tied up under their own bucket, and Logan Elm controlled the jump.

Spangler was fouled again, and he stepped to the line with the one and one in effect. He connected on the first shot but missed the second. Dave Horn tapped in the rebound and the game was on ice, 58-52, for the Braves.

With only six seconds left, Larry Guthrie connected on a charity toss for the final point in the game. He missed his second try.

Fairland, an extremely competitive team, had three returning men from a crew that lost to Ayersville by one point in the state tournament at St. John's Arena last year. The Dragons played a very aggressive brand of ball — always driving toward the bucket. They used the fast break very effectively, collecting five field goals and several fouls with this offensive weapon.

BUT THE Logan Elm defense was equal to the task that was cut out for them. In 23 previous games Fairland had averaged 70.3 points per contest. Only three times this year had the Dragon offense been held to less than 53 points and they were still winners in those games.

Keith Merrin's cagers used a collapsing man-to-man defense that kept the middle pretty well bottled up to thwart the frequent attempts the Dragons made to drive down the foul lane for close lay-ups. Few of Fairland's shots were easy.

Danny Hicks was outstanding on the boards, especially in the first half, but it was the aggressive play of Dave Horn and Roger Clarke under the bucket that allowed Hicks to get position on the rebounds.

Gary Hardman and Chuck Spangler kept the pressure on the guards, Ronnie Kingery and Vic Lewis, who has been averaging nearly 18 points a game, was held to eight.

Kingery copped scoring laurels with 24, but he hit only 40 per cent from the field, well below his usual percentage. Those two boys were starters on last year's team and have been the big guns for Dragons this year.

James Harper, their big center, and other returning starter scored only three points in the game. He fouled out with 1:30 remaining in the game.

ALL EYES ON THE BALL — Immediate possession of the basketball was the objective of both Logan Elm and Fairland last night in Regional play at Athens. Going up for the agate are Fairland's Jim Harper (11) and Logan Elm's Dave Horn (41). Roger Clarke (45) of LE waits his chance. On the left Eddie Capper and Tom Day of Fairland look for an open jump and Gary Hardman (43) of the Braves rushes in. The "cinderella" Braves, putting forth a mighty effort, turned back Fairland, 58-53, to reach the Regional finals. The opponent tonight will be undefeated Fort Frye. (Photo by Ron Warren)

Street Conditions Come Under Study

The Circleville Service Department is taking a long look at chuck holes and bulges which have cropped up in city streets during the winter.

Extreme temperatures and precipitation have caused streets and alleys to break up. The unsightly and uncomfortable situation (to motorists) is evident all over the city.

Service Director-Engineer Ronald Sharrett said the condition is due mainly to frequent freezing and thawing, improper or no base at the streets and alleys and lack of adequate drainage.

According to the records, the Service Department has received more than 40 complaints the last month concerning poor street conditions, and at least 25 reports on impassable alleys. Sharrett said patching at this time is only temporary, and that this procedure will be held to a minimum.

AT PRESENT the Service Department maintenance crew consists of five men who work a 7-hour day, 5-day week. Sharrett said this shortened schedule has resulted from a careful evaluation of finances available for street repair.

The service director disclosed that the trimming of finances is dictated by the desire to preserve the street fund for more productive work this summer.

In view of recent calls to his office, Sharrett said his department keeps a file on all complaints. After inspection of the problems they are categorized with respect to needed repair, he added.

Several factors are considered in regard to repair plans. Sharrett listed them as: 1. extent of the safety hazard involved; 2. severity of damage; 3. materials or equipment required; 4. state of damage; 5. controlling the work schedule of the maintenance crew; 6. nature of the complaint in regard to repair already planned.

23 Indicted As Cleveland Counterfeiters

CLEVELAND (AP) — Twenty-three Cleveland residents have been indicted in what Secret Service agents describe as one of the most effective counterfeiting operations in years.

Authorities said those indicted by a federal grand jury Friday passed more than $100,000 in phony $20 bills through several states since last October.

Many of the bogus bills were nearly flawless, agents said, although none of the leaders had any previous experience at making counterfeit money.

The ringleaders were identified as Alfred W. Gibson, Charles Radd and Peter Trovato.

Burt W. Griffin, assistant U.S. district attorney, said all the printing equipment has been destroyed and some of those indicted already have been taken into custody and freed on bail.

He estimated "about 5,000 bills were printed" on equipment which was moved to a vacant Painesville home late in September. Press, plates, ink paper and photographic equipment all were bought in Cleveland. Griffin estimated the ring invested between $8,000 and $17,000 in the operation.

St. Pat's Day Brings Batch Of Sunshine

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cloudless skies promises a sunny St. Patrick's Day for much of the nation today and offered possible relief from a seige of unseasonably cold weather in several Northern states.

Temperatures skidded below freezing during the night in an area from the central Rockies to New England with readings in the 20s recorded as far south as Louisville and Kansas City.

Skies were clear over the Dakotas where temperatures dipped below zero Thursday night. Huron S.D. reported 2 above at midnight, Aberdeen registered 3 degrees.

Most of the western third of the nation had partly cloudy to cloudy skies. Widely scattered showers dampened the Western plateau and Pacific Coast states. Showers also hit extreme southern Florida.

Snow flurries were scattered in the eastern Great Lakes area, the upper Ohio Valley and the northern Appalachians.

Readings were in the mild 40s and 50s in a narrow band along the Pacific Coast and from the southern Plains eastward through the Gulf states to the southern Atlantic coast. Some readings in the 60s were reported in extreme southern Florida, Texas and California.

Brazil Leads 8-Nation Group In Geneva Bid

Basic Policy Change By Kennedy To Be Required by Proposal

GENEVA (AP) — The United States appeared almost certain today to come under heavy pressure from several nonnuclear nations in the disarmament conference to suspend its plans for a series of nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere starting next month.

Brazil has taken the lead among the eight-nation middle bloc of the conference in arguing that, even without an international inspection system, atmospheric tests can be stopped now because they are detectable over great distances.

At the heart of the developing struggle is President Kennedy's announced plan to go ahead with atmospheric tests in late April unless Russia signs a test-ban treaty providing for international inspection.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk privately last Sunday that the Soviet government would not accept international inspection for a test ban. Soviet Ambassador Semyon K. Tsarapkin announced the position at a news conference Friday. He contended national inspection systems were sufficient to police a prohibition on testing.

U.S. officials regarded the Soviet declarations as a public rejection of Kennedy's terms. But they said they would not accept it as Moscow's last word on the issue. The President's offer remains open should the Soviets change their policy.

The position developing among the middle bloc of nations, however, threatens to make the tests more than a U.S.-Soviet issue. If the stand taken by Brazil finds support, U.S. diplomats would face a major challenge in winning acceptance of the American test policy.

Brazilian delegates said they believed that Russia and the United States could agree on a suspension of nuclear tests in the air, probably before the United States started its new series.

The Brazilian stand is closer to the Soviet Union's than to that of the United States. Since the Russians fired a series of about 50 test explosions in the air last fall, the immediate problem is one for Washington rather than Moscow.

Only a basic change of policy by President Kennedy would permit U.S. agreement to the suspensor called for in the Brazilian proposition.

Since the President has in fact already ruled out such a suspension, the practical problem for him and Secretary of State Rusk appears to be to convince the middle bloc countries that Western security requires further development of U.S. nuclear weapons to offset gains achieved by the Soviet Union last fall.

The conference was in recess for the weekend after three sessions beginning with a ceremonial opening Wednesday.

OU Student's Wife Presents Him with Triplet Daughters

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—The wife of Larry Grunwald, 26, an Ohio University graduate assistant in mathematics, gave birth today to triplets, all girls, in Mt. St. Marys Hospital in Nelsonville. The babies each weighed 3 pounds, 12 ounces.

Grunwald's hometown is Navarre in Stark County, and Mrs. Grunwald is from near Cutler in Washington County.

The couple already have a 14-month-old son. The increase in the family will pose a problem, since Mr. and Mrs. Grunwald live in a trailer.

Dr. L. A. Hamilton of Athens who presided at the delivery, said it was his first set of triplets in about 1,000 births. They were the first in the hospital's 12-year history.

COVERING plows with sheet plastic to keep soil from sticking to them may be an answer to this perennial problem in farming, U. S. Department of Agriculture Engineers report.

OHIO FARMERS supplied the export market with products worth $117,650,000 in the 1960-61 fiscal year, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

FOR SMALL trees to be used around one-story homes, Ohio State University Extension specialists suggest golden rain tree, flowering crabapples, redbud and flowering dogwood.

EGG QUALITY is influenced, to a large extent by the amount of carbon dioxide lost from the egg. This loss can be retarded by keeping the eggs cool, oiling the shells, or overwrapping the carton with a plastic material.

THE OHIO Rural Health Council is made up of representatives from 26 organizations with interests in health problems.

COUNTRY BANK deposits in Ohio were 4.4 per cent higher in January, 1962, than they were a year earlier, according to Ohio State University Extension economists.

WRAPPING the trunk of a fruit tree with hardware cloth helps prevent damage by rabbits, say Ohio State University Extension fruit specialists.

Woman Bank Aide Admits Large Theft

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Elsie Houck Stone, 57, has pleaded guilty to embezzling at least $311,331 from the First National Bank of West Plains.

The audit hasn't been completed and the shortage probably will be greater, U.S. Dist. Judge Richard M. Duncan was told Thursday.

Mrs. Stone, in a barely audible voice, replied "Guilty" when Judge Duncan asked her plea to the seven-count charge. He set sentencing for April 9.

An employee of the bank 37 years, Mrs. Stone was a $470-a-month vice president when the shortage was discovered Dec. 4 by bank examiners.

Calvin K. Hamilton, assistant U.S. attorney, said Mrs. Stone and her husband have turned over their property to the bonding company as partial restitution. Hamilton quoted Mrs. Stone as saying she started taking the money in 1952 to pay hospital bills for her husband, Victor.

Maximum penalty under the charge is five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine on each count.

You will be amazed when you hear about and see our "Foods of the Future".

Like the old woman who lived in a shoe, you have so many choices you don't know what to do — or rather, you don't know what to put on your grocery cart.

Today you face about 8,000 items at the market. Forty per cent, almost half of these, appeared since 1950. But you haven't seen anything yet.

For example, more foods will be cooked in the package they come in, or you may even eat the wrapper tomorrow. It will be completely digestible and downright delicious.

DIFFICULT French sauces and mile high souffles will come to you powdered in little envelopes. The hard to make complicated dishes will be easier than pie. Pancakes may have the sausage built in, and the gravy may ooze out of the Swiss steak while it heats.

There are new foods which men can take on their hunting or camping trips. Scrambled eggs, beef steak, vegetable and beef dinners and chicken stew are a few. They're not cheap — $2.50 for two steaks. But, no refrigeration is needed — they'll keep for two years — and taste good besides.

If the fish don't bite or father misses the moose, he can just reach for an envelope marked scrambled eggs — add a smidgen of water and presto, a Denver sandwich. The eggs are tender and delicate. They're even gold streaked with white!

The new freeze-dry method has caused the big change. First the raw or cooked food is frozen, then heat dried in a vacuum that sucks away the moisture as vapor. This leaves the food porous, somewhat like a dry cellulose sponge. Yes, vitamins and flavor are retained. The vacuum causes ice crystals to evaporate without melting or going through the liquid state.

Time was when vending machines meant just bubble gum, candy and cigarettes. Not so today or tomorrow. Food vending machines mean hot and cold foods, meals at all hours, along highways, in bus stations, in factories, offices and schools.

Just how popular are these meals? A million and a half Americans today buy at least one complete meal from a vending machine each day.

ELECTRONIC ranges play an important part. They are what enables the machines to vend hot foods as well as cold. Precooked foods are held in the freezing area. When you drop in your coin, the food automatically glides into the electronic oven to be heated and then out to you.

COVERING plows with sheet plastic to keep soil from sticking to them may be an answer to this perennial problem in farming, U. S. Department of Agriculture Engineers report.

OHIO FARMERS supplied the export market with products worth $117,650,000 in the 1960-61 fiscal year, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

FOR SMALL trees to be used around one-story homes, Ohio State University Extension specialists suggest golden rain tree, flowering crabapples, redbud and flowering dogwood.

EGG QUALITY is influenced, to a large extent by the amount of carbon dioxide lost from the egg. This loss can be retarded by keeping the eggs cool, oiling the shells, or overwrapping the carton with a plastic material.

THE OHIO Rural Health Council is made up of representatives from 28 organizations with interests in health problems.

COUNTRY BANK deposits in Ohio were 4.4 per cent higher in January, 1962, than they were a year earlier, according to Ohio State University Extension economists.

WRAPPING the trunk of a fruit tree with hardware cloth helps prevent damage by rabbits, say Ohio State University Extension fruit specialists.

Woman Bank Aide Admits Large Theft

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Elsie Houck Stone, 57, has pleaded guilty to embezzling at least $311,331 from the First National Bank of West Plains.

The audit hasn't been completed and the shortage probably will be greater, U.S. Dist. Judge Richard M. Duncan was told Thursday.

Mrs. Stone, in a barely audible voice, replied "Guilty" when Judge Duncan asked her plea to the seven-count charge. He set sentencing for April 9.

An employee of the bank 37 years, Mrs. Stone was a $470-a-month vice president when the shortage was discovered Dec. 4 by bank examiners.

Calvin K. Hamilton, assistant U.S. attorney, said Mrs. Stone and her husband have turned over their property to the bonding company as partial restitution.

Hamilton quoted Mrs. Stone as saying she started taking the money in 1952 to pay hospital bills for her husband, Victor.

Maximum penalty under the charge is five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine on each count.

You will be amazed when you hear about and see our "Foods of the Future".

Like the old woman who lived in a shoe, you have so many choices you don't know what to do — or rather, you don't know what to put on your grocery cart.

Today you face about 8,000 items at the market. Forty per cent, almost half of these, appeared since 1950. But you haven't seen anything yet.

For example, more foods will be cooked in the package they come in, or you may even eat the wrapper tomorrow. It will be completely digestible and downright delicious.

DIFFICULT French sauces and mile high souffles will come to you powdered in little envelopes. The hard to make complicated dishes will be easier than pie. Pancakes may have the sausage built in, and the gravy may ooze out of the Swiss steak while it heats.

There are new foods which men can take on their hunting or camping trips. Scrambled eggs, beef steaks, vegetable and beef dinners and chicken stew are a few. They're not cheap — $2.50 for two steaks. But, no refrigeration is needed — they'll keep for two years — and taste good besides.

If the fish don't bite or father misses the moose, he can just reach for an envelope marked scrambled eggs — add a smidgen of water and presto, a Denver sandwich. The eggs are tender and delicate. They're even gold streaked with white!

The new freeze-dry method has caused the big change. First the raw or cooked food is frozen, then heat dried in a vacuum that sucks away the moisture as vapor. This leaves the food porous, somewhat like a dry cellulose sponge. Yes, vitamins and flavor are retained. The vacuum causes ice crystals to evaporate without melting or going through the liquid state.

Time was when vending machines meant just bubble gum, candy and cigarettes. Not so today or tomorrow. Food vending machines mean hot and cold foods, meals at all hours, along highways, in bus stations, in factories, offices and schools.

Just how popular are these meals? A million and a half Americans today buy at least one complete meal from a vending machine each day.

ELECTRONIC ranges play an important part. They are what enables the machines to vend hot foods as well as cold. Precooked foods are held in the freezing area. When you drop in your coin, the food automatically glides into the electronic oven to be heated and then out to you.

Our country faces a "luxury" nutrition problem. Our form of nutrition is too much, not too little — surplus weight on the individual. Too often we are overweight yet undernourished and underexercised.

We are breakfast skippers and fast dieters and sneak nib-blers. Foods of the future will make it possible for dieters to have tempting meals and stay on a diet without feeling abused. So . . . new foods, new kitchen freedom, new opportunity for better health and better living.

Soil Test Plan To Be Continued Until Mid-April

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent.

The Soil Fertility Week program of "Don't Guess — Soil Test" met with unfavorable weather conditions here.

However, due to the value of this program to farmers it will be continued. The probes and cooperation of dealers will be carried on until mid-April.

One of Pickaway County's greatest assets is its soil. Farmers must learn to take care of this resource. Gone is the old practice of wearing out one farm and moving to another.

The plant food content in the soil is like money in the bank. Before you write a check, a deposit is made in the bank to assure there is enough money to cover the check. In the same way, you must apply enough plant food so that the plant can draw upon it to produce high yields.

WE ARE running too low on our supply of available plant food in many soils. This is especially true of potash. A great many soils in Pickaway County are low or very low in available potash.

To produce good yields, plants need plenty of potash. For instance, to produce a hundred bushels of corn requires 95 pounds of actual potash.

To stay in the farming business it is necessary to halt farming on a soil depleting basis. We have to start supplying these plant foods in the form of fertilizer, especially in the form of fertilizers high in potash.

Reduced Risk of Feed Grain Said Worth Farmer's Study

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

How much is it worth to a farmer to have a sure income from part of his land this year?

This is something farmers will want to consider in deciding whether to sign up for the 1962 Feed Grain Program, according to Dr. Wallace Barr, Ohio State University Extension economist.

By signing up to take part of their land out of feed grain production, farmers are assured income from that land, Dr. Barr said, and they won't have to worry about drought, hail, too much rain, or possible insect and disease damage to crops normally grown on that land.

Besides reduced risk, farmers will want to analyze many other factors before deciding whether or not to sign up for the program, according to the economist. How will participation affect net farm income? Will participation give more time for doing a better job on the rest of the farm, or to do some custom work for neighbors?

If farmers divert some land to conservation uses, will this have any long-range effects on their farm operations?

Dr. Barr suggests farmers get in touch with their ASCS offices to obtain base acreages and payment rates for their farms, then figure the effects of the program in terms of their own situations.

An Extension leaflet, "1962 Feed

Grain Program", is available from county extension offices. It includes a sample budget form that farmers may use in making their decisions.

Deadline for signing for the Feed Grain Program is March 30.

Jobs Plentiful For Teachers, Survey Shows

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Jobs are plentiful for education graduates of Kent State University.

Twenty teaching jobs exist for each education graduate, according to the Job Placement Bureau's annual report.

"Vacancies far exceeded the number of graduates available to fill them in the field of education," Dr. Paul K. Howells, bureau director, said Thursday.

Biggest demand was for those qualified in special education, elementary, early childhood, English, physical sciences, foreign languages and women's health and physical education.

Dr. Howells said well qualified teachers are not plentiful in any field because some educational employers continue to hire unqualified teachers for financial reasons.

Least in demand are teachers specializing in geography, history, men's health and physical education, speech, biology and social studies, he said.

Dayton Air Unit Building Gets Nod

WASHINGTON (AP) — Construction of a multi-million dollar academic building for the Air Force Institute of Technology at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base has been approved by the House Armed Services Committee.

The institute will help to deal with a critical military bottleneck — that of scientific manpower, Rep. Paul F. Schenck, R-Ohio, said Thursday.

Because of this bottleneck, Schenck said, "It would appear to me that the Defense Department should assign a position of top priority to funds for the Air Force Institute of Technology."

Schenck, fellow Ohio Republican Rep. Clarence Brown and Maj. Gen. C. E. Combs, commandant of the institute, urged approval of the fund for the building.

U.S. Farmers Seek Increased Sugar Output

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says the pressure of American farmers for the right to produce more sugar is not surprising in light of the favorable returns growers have been receiving for sugar cane and sugar beets.

Plantings are regulated under a sugar control program designed to stabilize prices and supplies.

A report on the sugar situation today said total returns from cane and beets—price received plus direct government payments—have been maintained at a favorable level, while prices for most competing crops have declined.

The present act expires June 30, and President Kennedy is expected to send recommendations to Congress soon for an extension with some changes. Many farm groups in the Midwest and West have been pressing for allocation of a large share of the domestic sugar market to American farmers. Nearly two-thirds of the nation's sugar supplies are imported.

Remeasurement Plans Are Listed

Galen D. Mowery, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee issued a statement today to clear up any possible misunderstanding about the charge wheat farmers will be asked to pay, or at least deposit, this year for remeasurement of their wheat acreage.

Mowery said the initial measurement of wheat acreage — to determine whether the grower is in compliance with his farm's wheat acreage allotment — will still be done at ASCS expense, as in other years. The change in this year's procedure is that farmers with excess acres will be asked to pay the cost of determining "adjusted" acreage.

According to the chairman, in previous years similar changes have been made in connection with adjustment of acreages under other commodity programs.

Mowery said if a farmer is notified after the initial measurement that his acreage of wheat seeded for harvest as grain is in excess of his farm's wheat allotment (or his marketing quota exemption acreage, or his "intended" acreage, whichever is applicable), he has the option of either: (1) accepting the acreage figure as correct and proceeding to adjust his acreage, or (2) requesting a remeasurement if he believes that the initial measurement is in error.

WHEN the acreage is remeasured, the farmer will be asked to make a deposit — in an amount large enough to cover the cost of the service of $8. In some cases, this deposit will be refunded to the farmer, the chairman added.

The deposit will be refunded because of an error in the determination: (1) if the remeasurement brings the acreage within his wheat acreage allotment, or (2) if the acreage remains in excess, but it has changed as much as the larger of 3 per cent or .5 of an acre.

The Chairman explained that many producers will be found to be within their wheat allotments on the basis of their initial measurements. The adjustment feature of the program actually is a special service which benefits those growers who are not originally found to be in compliance.

The adjusted charge is considered equitable because these growers thereby have an opportunity of adjusting their acreage and so qualifying for the various benefits offered under the 1962 wheat stabilization program. Adjustment of the acreage may be accomplished by plowing under the crop, or using it for hay, or disposing of it in some other approved way so that it will not be classified as wheat.

Program benefits available to growers who sign up and then participate in the 1962 wheat stabilization program include diversion payments for complying with the farm's wheat acreage allotment and putting the diverted acreage into an approved conservation use, eligibility for price support on the 1962 wheat crop, and avoidance of marketing quota penalties on "excess" wheat.

Mowery said these quota penalties, for 1962, are greatly increased, as directed by the governing legislation.

Farm Storage Plan Advances Under Loan Program of 1961

Farmers built a record 129 million bushels of additional on-the-farm storage under the farm storage facility loan program during 1961, the Department of Agriculture has reported. This figure represents a total of 23,728 loans made for $35,068,920.

A major factor in this record activity was a lowering of down-payment provisions in March 1961, as directed by the President, to encourage storage of grain and other price-support commodities on farms and to strengthen economic activity in farming areas.

For the Nation, the 129 million bushels of capacity built on farms under the loan program in 1961 more than doubled the 60.6 million bushels built in 1940. It was also considerably higher than the previous record year of 1959, when farmers built 86.7 million bushels of farm-storage capacity under the program.

The stepped-up activity resulted in use of an estimated 45,000 tons of rolled sheet steel in bins and other storage structures acquired by farmers in 1961 through loans under the program. About 70 per cent of the farm structures built are made of steel and the remaining 30 per cent of other materials, chiefly wood.

UNDER the facility loan program, farmers may obtain loans from the Commodity Credit Corporation to finance the cost of needed new farm storage structures. The new down-payment provisions enabled farmers to borrow up to 95 per cent of the outlay for farm storage facilities costing 40 cents or less per bushel to build. On facilities costing more than 40 cents per bushel, the producer may borrow up to 95 per cent of 40 cents times the bushel capacity of the structure or 80 per cent of the actual cost, whichever is higher.

No loans are available for more than an amount equal to 50 cents times the bushel capacity of the facility.

The loans run for not more than five years from the date the loan is disbursed. Loans may be repaid in not more than four annual installments, with the first installment due on the first anniversary of the loan. Interest is charged at the rate of 4 per cent per annum on the unpaid balance.

Since the program began in 1949, and through Dec. 1961, farmers had borrowed a total of approximately $182.4 million, to add some 669 million bushels of grain storage capacity on the nation's farms. Of the total amount loaned, the balance outstanding at the end of 1961 was about $63.6 million.

Congress OKs Pension Bill

Measure Is Second Item on JFK's List

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has sent President Kennedy legislation to set up tighter protection for $60 billion in pension and welfare funds.

The Senate Thursday cleared a compromised version of the bill by voice vote soon after the House passed it 283-108.

An effort by House Republicans to send the bill back to a Senate-House conference was defeated on a 217-182 roll call vote.

This was the second important item on Kennedy's legislative program to be sent to the White House this session. The first, a manpower retraining bill, received final congressional action Tuesday and was signed into law Thursday.

The pension-welfare plan bill is designed to prevent wrongdoing in connection with funds set up for the benefit of an estimated 90 million Americans.

It puts enforcement teeth into a 1958 disclosure law covering the funds.

The new bill would:

1. Give the secretary of labor authority to require full and accurate detail regarding the operation of the plans.
2. Give the secretary power to investigate violations of the reporting provision and to enforce those provisions with injunctions.
3. Require bonding of administrators, officials and employees who handle plan funds and property.
4. Provide criminal penalties for offering, accepting or soliciting bribes or kickbacks in administering the plans, for making false statements in the reports, or for stealing or embezzling plan funds or properties.

Major Marriage Boom Is Expected in Offing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government statistician says a major marriage boom is coming in the United States.

Dr. Forrest E. Linder, director of the National Center for Health Statistics, made the prediction and asked a House Appropriations group for more funds to help keep track of it.

Linder, in testimony made public Thursday, said boys and girls born in the high birth-rate period that followed World War II are reaching marriage age now.

It takes the Venus flytrap five to 10 days to digest an insect it has caught. The carnivorous plants can be found in the Carolina coastal highlands.

U.S. Farmers Seek Increased Sugar Output

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says the pressure of American farmers for the right to produce more sugar is not surprising in light of the favorable returns growers have been receiving for sugar cane and sugar beets.

Plantings are regulated under a sugar control program designed to stabilize prices and supplies.

A report on the sugar situation today said total returns from cane and beets—price received plus direct government payments—have been maintained at a favorable level, while prices for most competing crops have declined.

The present act expires June 30, and President Kennedy is expected to send recommendations to Congress soon for an extension with some changes. Many farm groups in the Midwest and West have been pressing for allocation of a large share of the domestic sugar market to American farmers. Nearly two-thirds of the nation's sugar supplies are imported.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tobacco farmers were described today as fearful they might lose their federal production control and price support program if Congress fails to enact legislation designed to cure surpluses in other crops.

Robert Scott, master of the North Carolina State Grange, told of this concern among farmers in his state in advocating the general principles of the administration's new farm program.

Scott said this fear is based on the possibility the public and Congress might get fed up with costs of farm programs and kick them all out, including that for tobacco.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Weather Bureau says cold weather and wet soils last week continued to hamper farming operations in practically all sections of the country.

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department survey shows Southern states still have a long way to go to catch up with other parts of the country in efficiency of milk production.

On March 1, production of milk per cow for the country as a whole was 23.1 pounds. But in the South Central states, the average was only 14.03 pounds. It was as low as 8.2 pounds in Mississippi.

Topping the states in this respect was California with an average of 30 pounds. Next was Minnesota with 28.4 pounds.

Red Cross Plans Aid in Storm Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Red Cross expects to spend about $500,000 helping victims of last week's East Coast storm get back on their feet.

The Red Cross said the money will go for emergency and long-term aid, including rehabilitation grants.

More than 4,000 persons who suffered property losses in the storm are expected to receive this aid, a spokesman said.

Storm relief expenditures are in addition to an estimated $577,000 to be spent helping people recover from floods in Kentucky, West Virginia, Ohio and Indiana, the Red Cross said.

The organization appealed for contributions to help pay for aid to storm and flood victims.

Remeasurement Plans Are Listed

Galen D. Mowery, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee issued a statement today to clear up any possible misunderstanding about the charge wheat farmers will be asked to pay, or at least deposit, this year for remeasurement of their wheat acreage.

Mowery said the initial measurement of wheat acreage — to determine whether the grower is in compliance with his farm's wheat acreage allotment — will still be done at ASCS expense, as in other years. The change in this year's procedure is that farmers with excess acres will be asked to pay the cost of determining "adjusted" acreage.

According to the chairman, in previous years similar changes have been made in connection with adjustment of acreages under other commodity programs.

Mowery said if a farmer is notified after the initial measurement that his acreage of wheat seeded for harvest as grain is in excess of his farm's wheat allotment (or his marketing quota exemption acreage, or his "intended" acreage, whichever is applicable), he has the option of either: (1) accepting the acreage figure as correct and proceeding to adjust his acreage, or (2) requesting a remeasurement if he believes that the initial measurement is in error.

WHEN the acreage is remeasured, the farmer will be asked to make a deposit — in an amount large enough to cover the cost of the service of $8. In some cases, this deposit will be refunded to the farmer, the chairman added.

The deposit will be refunded because of an error in the determination: (1) if the remeasurement brings the acreage within his wheat acreage allotment, or (2) if the acreage remains in excess, but it has changed as much as the larger of 3 per cent or .5 of an acre.

The Chairman explained that many producers will be found to be within their wheat allotments on the basis of their initial measurements. The adjustment feature of the program actually is a special service which benefits those growers who are not originally found to be in compliance.

The adjusted charge is considered equitable because these growers thereby have an opportunity of adjusting their acreage and so qualifying for the various benefits offered under the 1962 wheat stabilization program. Adjustment of the acreage may be accomplished by plowing under the crop, or using it for hay, or disposing of it in some other approved way so that it will not be classified as wheat.

Program benefits available to growers who sign up and then participate in the 1962 wheat stabilization program include diversion payments for complying with the farm's wheat acreage allotment and putting the diverted acreage into an approved conservation use, eligibility for price support on the 1962 wheat crop, and avoidance of marketing quota penalties on "excess" wheat.

Mowery said these quota penalties, for 1962, are greatly increased, as directed by the governing legislation.

Farm Storage Plan Advances Under Loan Program of 1961

Farmers built a record 129 million bushels of additional on-farm storage under the farm storage facility loan program during 1961, the Department of Agriculture has reported. This figure represents a total of 23,728 loans made for $35,068,920.

A major factor in this record activity was a lowering of down-payment provisions in March 1961, as directed by the President, to encourage storage of grain and other price-support commodities on farms and to strengthen economic activity in farming areas.

For the Nation, the 129 million bushels of capacity built on farms under the loan program in 1961 more than doubled the 60.6 million bushels built in 1940. It was also considerably higher than the previous record year of 1959, when farmers built 86.7 million bushels of farm-storage capacity under the program.

The stepped-up activity resulted in use of an estimated 45,000 tons of rolled sheet steel in bins and other storage structures acquired by farmers in 1961 through loans under the program. About 70 per cent of the farm structures built are made of steel and the remaining 30 per cent of other materials, chiefly wood.

UNDER the facility loan program, farmers may obtain loans from the Commodity Credit Corporation to finance the cost of needed new farm storage structures. The new down-payment provisions enabled farmers to borrow up to 95 per cent of the outlay for farm storage facilities costing 40 cents or less per bushel to build. On facilities costing more than 40 cents per bushel, the producer may borrow up to 95 per cent of 40 cents times the bushel capacity of the structure or 80 per cent of the actual cost, whichever is higher.

No loans are available for more than an amount equal to 50 cents times the bushel capacity of the facility.

The loans run for not more than five years from the date the loan is disbursed. Loans may be repaid in not more than four annual installments, with the first installment due on the first anniversary of the loan. Interest is charged at the rate of 4 per cent per annum on the unpaid balance.

Since the program began in 1949, and through Dec. 1961, farmers had borrowed a total of approximately $182.4 million, to add some 669 million bushels of grain storage capacity on the nation's farms. Of the total amount loaned, the balance outstanding at the end of 1961 was about $63.6 million.

Congress OKs Pension Bill

Measure Is Second Item on JFK's List

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has sent President Kennedy legislation to set up tighter protection for $60 billion in pension and welfare funds.

The Senate Thursday cleared a compromised version of the bill by voice vote soon after the House passed it 283-108.

An effort by House Republicans to send the bill back to a Senate-House conference was defeated on a 217-182 roll call vote.

This was the second important item on Kennedy's legislative program to be sent to the White House this session. The first, a manpower retraining bill, received final congressional action Tuesday and was signed into law Thursday.

The pension-welfare plan bill is designed to prevent wrongdoing in connection with funds set up for the benefit of an estimated 90 million Americans.

It puts enforcement teeth into a 1958 disclosure law covering the funds.

The new bill would: 1. Give the secretary of labor authority to require full and accurate detail regarding the operation of the plans.

2. Give the secretary power to investigate violations of the reporting provision and to enforce those provisions with injunctions.

3. Require bonding of administrators, officials and employees who handle plan funds and property.

4. Provide criminal penalties for offering, accepting or soliciting bribes or kickbacks in administering the plans, for making false statements in the reports, or for stealing or embezzling plan funds or properties.

Potential New States

When Alaska and Hawaii were admitted as the 49th and the 50th states, it was widely assumed that the flag had all the stars it would ever get.

But other thoughts are stimulated by the Kennedy administration's request to give the citizens of Guam and the Virgin Islands the right to elect their own governors. Looking farther ahead, the administration hopes the time will come when citizens of these islands can vote for U. S. President and send representatives to Congress.

Puerto Rico already has a large measure of self-government and hints that it is being prepared for statehood are heard.

Within Means

Some New York politicians, regarding it as a good vote catcher, are backing a $100 million bond issue to pay a bonus to Korean war veterans. New York is a high-tax, debt-ridden state, so this aroused instant protest from many who regarded this as reckless spending on veterans who already have many government benefits.

After maintaining silence for a while, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller came out in opposition to the bond issue. But his sharpest critic and probable opponent for the governorship this year — Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City — swung in behind the proposal.

One proposal is to attach the Virgin Islands to Puerto Rico and admit them as one state.

If Guam in the far Pacific gets self-government and eventually statehood, there is a host of potentials in the Western Pacific trust islands which the U. S. took over after the defeat of Japan. These, include such sizable groupings as Samoa, the Marshalls, the Marianas and the Truk Islands. Some of these protectorates have been relatively neglected.

Both major parties will analyze the diverse populations involved for their effect in close elections.

Much is said about fiscal responsibility at a time when more and more high spending projects are being launched. Sometimes one wonders if the true exponents of fiscal responsibility are not a vanishing breed.

It is therefore encouraging to note the Rockefeller opposition and discouraging to see Mayor Wagner, who heads a city that is busted and a supplicant for state and federal aid, supporting a spending program that is not within the means of the people he represents.

Automation Is Whipping Boy

There is reason to believe that automation has been made a whipping boy for many complex social and economic problems. There is no denial that unemployment exists.

Last year the number of jobless for periods in excess of six months was the highest in years. Automation cannot be blamed for all of that although machines are replacing some workers.

With the national economy growing at only a 3 per cent rate yearly full employment is difficult to attain even without the annual addition of a million workers to the labor force. Coal miners' wages helped price that fuel out of the market against competition from fuel oil and natural gas. Many miners still wait for mines in which they worked for years to reopen.

High production costs spur development of cost-saving equipment. This has been true ever since Henry Ford's production threw thousands of harness makers and wagon builders out of work. Often production costs have risen more rapidly than productivity increased.

All mechanization is not automation. The two create an increase of productivity which in turn generates a demand for more goods. While automation may eliminate some jobs, technological advances will continue to provide others.

Nick the Name

A legal opinion by the attorney general of Kansas, William Ferguson, may open up a whole new era in politics — adding dash and color to what has been dull and humdrum in recent years.

Ferguson said a candidate for office in his state may choose any name he wishes for use on the ballot, even "a nickname by which he is commonly known." This should open up all sorts of delightful possibilities.

Some famous nicknames in history: "Pass the Biscuits O'Daniel," "Cotton Ed Smith," "Sockless Jerry Simpson," "Old Hickory Jackson," "Tippecanoe Harrison (and Tyler too)," etc.

There is only one danger — the qualification about "good faith" in using a nickname "by which he is commonly known." This might reduce some hopefuls to tags such as "Stinky," "Fatso" or "Shiftless."

Hot Kennedy-McCormack Senate Fight Starts

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts senatorial battle between the Kennedys and McCormacks was off to a hot start today with indications of early fighting for Democratic delegate strength.

State Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., who two weeks ago announced his candidacy for the Senate, has said he has lined up quite a few delegates favoring U. S. House Speaker John W. McCormack.

Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, the President's youngest brother, announced his candidacy Wednesday.

The 1,723 Democratic delegates are to meet in Springfield, Mass., June 7-9. Delegate selecting is under way in ward and town party committees.

McCormack, campaigning in western Massachusetts, said he heard reports that delegates were being pressured to vote for Kennedy.

F. Richard Drennan, one of two unsuccessful candidates for delegates at a Ward 4 Democratic meeting in Pittsfield Sunday, said he was the only one of four candidates who announced he was willing to pledge for Kennedy.

He said today that in making his appeal to the ward committee he merely stated he thought it

McCormack, 38, a U.S. Naval Academy graduate as well as a lawyer, has been in city and state elective offices for a decade. He has said he will hit hard on the point of experience.

Announced candidates for the Republican Senate nomination are George Cabot Lodge, son of the former senator and United Nations ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, and Rep. Laurence Curtis, R-Mass.

The battle is for the remaining two years of the term to which President Kennedy was elected in 1958. Kennedy wrested the seat from Henry Cabot Lodge in 1952. would be judicious for the committee to elect an avowed candidate pledged to Kennedy, if he him, McCormack is the nephew of committee was to attain status.

He said his remark was misinterpreted, that there is no pressure.

"I don't think Ted Kennedy knows about this. I think he is too much of a gentleman to carry out this sort of campaign," McCormack said.

There was no comment from the Kennedy camp.

The June convention endorses a party slate for the September primary but candidates who fail to win endorsement may run in the primary. Both Kennedy and McCormack have said they will go all the way to the primary.

The President told his news conference in Washington Wednesday, "My brother is carrying this campaign on his own and will conduct it that way."

The President said he will not participate in his brother's campaign except to go to Massachusetts to vote in the September primary. Pierre Salinger, presidential press secretary, said that both wanted it this way.

The other Kennedy brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F., told Washington newsmen he thinks Edward "will make an outstanding candidate."

Would he campaign for his younger brother?

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Are you making the same error that Swiss monks made for years? They used to send brandy-carrying St. Bernards into the Alps to rescue lost, freezing travelers. The brandy was supposed to warm and stimulate frozen victims.

But alcohol is no human anti-freeze. As it relaxes you, it relaxes millions of tiny blood vessels beneath the skin. Rivers of blood pour into these vessels carrying internal heat to the surface. Like a radiator, your hot, flushed skin warms the surrounding air.

Giving off heat, you freeze faster, even though that flushed skin makes you feel comfortably warm.

Alcohol doesn't stimulate, either. It numbs brain cells from the top down. Top brain cells help you reason and control those cave-man ideas. As alcohol slows these cells you lose control. Gay and giddy, you're ready to battle three men at a time, even though it takes four to hold you up.

Alcohol depresses nerve cells so well that one medical expert recently suggested doctors might prescribe it more frequently. A wee bit makes an ideal tranquilizer; a stiff shot works better than most sedatives and still more acts like anesthesia to numb pain.

Even if alcohol goes against your grain, you won't object to using it for medicine. Most elixirs contain 25 per cent alcohol — 50 proof!

One doctor has already attacked the idea, because he feels that alcohol is a habit-forming narcotic. So is morphine — one of the best pain-relievers doctors prescribe. Like morphine, it should be used, not abused.

During prohibition, prescriptions for whiskey used to read "Spiritus frumenti." A new chemical name has been suggested so you won't feel like an alcoholic when taking your 88 proof medicine.

You can see that those St. Bernards carried kegs of real medicine. They simply gave it to the wrong patients!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Wilmington College Starts Ag Study

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — It didn't take Wilmington College long to start a farm research project after a 140 acre tract was acquired from the federal government.

Dr. Roy J. Stuckey, college agriculture director, reported on plans to set up a project to study the effect of continuous cultivation of corn on soil fertility.

He said 100 acres of the section would be devoted to the long-term project, started he said because the practice of cultivating only corn as a crop was increased in the Wilmington area.

The General Service Administration had announced only last week plans to transfer the 140 acres to Wilmington College for use as a campus soil research center.

Speaking One's Mind

By George Sokolsky

Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina has been raising an issue, not of the right to know but of the right to tell. Military men and many public officials come into possession of much information either because of the work they do or because of their proximity to others who do very important work.

The issue is: are they justified in telling what they know while they remain in the employ of the government? Does wearing the uniform enjoin a man from free speech?

This is an old issue and there have been many quarrels over it. The most recent one is that of General Edwin A. Walker who, after a brilliant military career, was in effect, forced out of command in Germany because his anti-Communist activities were distasteful to the Administration. Many persons believe that General Walker was mistreated.

The attitude of the Kennedy Administration is that the foreign policy of this country is to be conducted by the President, assisted by the Secretary of State; that when public officials, particularly men in uniform, speak, we in the United States, understand that each man speaks for himself but that in other countries, particularly Communist countries, whatever is said by an official person is assumed to be policy, determined in advance of the address. Also the Administration takes the position that it may wish to time a case softly, mildly or angrily and that it alone shall determine the degree of emphasis.

For instance, when a speaker wrote, "Communist China has territorial objectives of its own which must be reckoned with quite apart from loyalties to Moscow." It is possible to understand the reason for the destruction of the second clause of the sentence. It must be a matter of policy to acknowledge the degree of the split between Russia and Red China.

The issue then comes down to this:

1. Public officials, unless authorized, should be silent;
2. Public officials should speak but their speeches should conform to policy;
3. Public officials should be free to say anything they choose.

sitive on the subject. Thus far, no American President, no American Secretary of State since 1933 has won a diplomatic victory or has regained the initiative in our dealings with Soviet Russia.

If somebody in the Administration spoke inside this country as Robert F. Kennedy spoke in Germany, it would give the people greater confidence in what is being done.

County Fairs To Receive Betting Fund

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Nearly $670,000 derived from a tax on pari-mutuel wagering at Ohio race tracks last year is being distributed to 92 county and independent fairs for use this year.

The figure represents an all-time high distribution. More than $3 million has been distributed to the fairs since the one-half per cent pari-mutuel tax was enacted in 1957.

The Ohio State Fair will receive the largest amount—$60,000. Each county fair receives a minimum of $2,500 for general operation.

Fairs conducting horse races receive an additional $3,000, for which $2,500 is purse money and $500 is for track maintenance.

Fairs holding four stake races for two and three-year-old colts and fillies receive an additional $3,207 to help pay purses.

Fifty fairs are to receive the maximum of $8,707, while 23 will receive $5,500 and 19 fairs, $2,500.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A MOVIE PRODUCER, always boasting about his rare books, became such a bore that his associates decided to cut him down a peg. They hired an actor and introduced him as a country doctor from Iowa. Quickly, the conversation was brought around to rare books.

"Personally," asserted the alleged doctor, "I loathe very old books. They're mouldy; I can't stand their smell. Only a couple of days ago I threw out an old German Bible that had been in the family for generations."

"Old German Bible?" repeated the producer hastily. "You don't happen to remember who printed it?"

"I think it was Guten-something or other," yawned the doctor.

"Not GUTENBERG!" shrieked the producer. "You fool, you have thrown away a fortune! We must fly back to Iowa at once and try to retrieve that Bible."

"Hold your horses," counseled the so-called doctor with elaborate unconcern. "This Bible couldn't be worth anything. Some character named Martin Luther had scribbled his name all over it!"

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Nearly $670,000 derived from a tax on pari-mutuel wagering at Ohio race tracks last year is being distributed to 92 county and independent fairs for use this year.

The figure represents an all-time high distribution. More than $3 million has been distributed to the fairs since the one-half per cent pari-mutuel tax was enacted in 1957.

The Ohio State Fair will receive the largest amount—$60,000. Each county fair receives a minimum of $2,500 for general operation.

One proposal is to attach the Virgin Islands to Puerto Rico and admit them as one state.

If Guam in the far Pacific gets self-government and eventually statehood, there is a host of potentials in the Western Pacific trust islands which the U. S. took over after the defeat of Japan. These, include such sizable groupings as Samoa, the Marshalls, the Marianas and the Truk Islands. Some of these protectorates have been relatively neglected.

Both major parties will analyze the diverse populations involved for their effect in close elections.

hind the proposal.

Much is said about fiscal responsibility at a time when more and more high spending projects are being launched. Sometimes one wonders if the true exponents of fiscal responsibility are not a vanishing breed.

It is therefore encouraging to note the Rockefeller opposition and discouraging to see Mayor Wagner, who heads a city that is busted and a supplicant for state and federal aid, supporting a spending program that is not within the means of the people he represents.

competition from fuel oil and natural gas. Many miners still wait for mines in which they worked for years to reopen.

High production costs spur development of cost-saving equipment. This has been true ever since Henry Ford's production threw thousands of harness makers and wagon builders out of work. Often production costs have risen more rapidly than productivity increased.

All mechanization is not automation. The two create an increase of productivity which in turn generates a demand for more goods. While automation may eliminate some jobs, technological advances will continue to provide others.

Some famous nicknames in history: "Pass the Biscuits O'Daniel," "Cotton Ed Smith," "Sockless Jerry Simpson," "Old Hickory Jackson," "Tippecanoe Harrison (and Tyler too)," etc.

There is only one danger — the qualification about "good faith" in using a nickname "by which he is commonly known." This might reduce some hopefuls to tags such as "Stinky," "Fatso" or "Shiftless."

McCormack, 38, a U.S. Naval Academy graduate as well as a lawyer, has been in city and state elective offices for a decade. He has said he will hit hard on the point of experience.

Announced candidates for the Republican Senate nomination are George Cabot Lodge, son of the former senator and United Nations ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, and Rep. Laurence Curtis, R-Mass.

The battle is for the remaining two years of the term to which President Kennedy was elected in 1958. Kennedy wrested the seat from Henry Cabot Lodge in 1952, would be judicious for the committee to elect an avowed candidate pledged to Kennedy, if the him, McCormack is the nephew of committee was to attain status.

A MOVIE PRODUCER, always boasting about his rare books, became such a bore that his associates decided to cut him down a peg. They hired an actor and introduced him as a country doctor from Iowa. Quickly, the conversation was brought around to rare books.

"Personally," asserted the alleged doctor, "I loathe very old books. They're mouldy; I can't stand their smell. Only a couple of days ago I threw out an old German Bible that had been in the family for generations."

"Old German Bible?" repeated the producer hastily. "You don't happen to remember who printed it?"

"I think it was Gutenberg or other," yawned the doctor.

"Not Gutenberg!" shrieked the producer. "You fool, you have thrown away a fortune! We must fly back to Iowa at once and try to retrieve that Bible."

"Hold your horses," counseled the so-called doctor with elaborate unconcern. "This Bible couldn't be worth anything. Some character named Martin Luther had scribbled his name all over it!"

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Are you making the same error that Swiss monks made for years? They used to send brandy-carrying St. Bernards into the Alps to rescue lost, freezing travelers. The brandy was supposed to warm and stimulate frozen victims.

But alcohol is no human anti-freeze. As it relaxes you, it relaxes millions of tiny blood vessels beneath the skin. Rivers of blood pour into these vessels carrying internal heat to the surface. Like a radiator, your hot, flushed skin warms the surrounding air.

Giving off heat, you freeze faster, even though that flushed skin makes you feel comfortably warm.

Alcohol doesn't stimulate, either. It numbs brain cells from the top down. Top brain cells help you reason and control those cave-man ideas. As alcohol slows these cells you lose control. Gay and giddy, you're ready to battle three men at a time, even though it takes four to hold you up.

Alcohol depresses nerve cells so well that one medical expert recently suggested doctors might prescribe it more frequently. A wee bit makes an ideal tranquilizer; a stiff shot woks better than most sedatives and still more acts like anesthesia to numb pain.

Even if alcohol goes against your grain, you won't object to using it for medicine. Most elixirs contain 25 per cent alcohol — 50 proof!

One doctor has already attacked the idea, because he feels that alcohol is a habit-forming narcotic. So is morphine — one of the best pain-relievers doctors prescribe. Like morphine, it should be used, not abused.

During prohibition, prescriptions for whiskey used to read "Spiritus frumentii." A new chemical name has been suggested so you won't feel like an alcoholic when taking your 86 proof medicine.

You can see that those St. Bernards carried kegs of real medicine. They simply gave it to the wrong patients!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Wilmington College Starts Ag Study

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — It didn't take Wilmington College long to start a farm research project after a 140 acre tract was acquired from the federal government.

Dr. Roy J. Stuckey, college agriculture director, reported on plans to set up a project to study the effect of continuous cultivation of corn on soil fertility.

He said 100 acres of the section would be devoted to the long-term project, started he said because the practice of cultivating only corn as a crop was increased in the Wilmington area.

The General Service Administration had announced only last week plans to transfer the 140 acres to Wilmington College for use as a campus soil research center.

Speaking One's Mind

Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina has been raising an issue, not of the right to know but of the right to tell. Military men and many public officials come into possession of much information either because of the work they do or because of their proximity to others who do very important work.

The issue is: are they justified in telling what they know while they remain in the employ of the government? Does wearing the uniform enjoin a man from free speech?

This is an old issue and there have been many quarrels over it. The most recent one is that of General Edwin A. Walker who, after a brilliant military career, was in effect, forced out of command in Germany because his anti-Communist activities were distasteful to the Administration. Many persons believe that General Walker was mistreated.

The attitude of the Kennedy Administration is that the foreign policy of this country is to be conducted by the President, assisted by the Secretary of State; that when public officials, particularly men in uniform, speak, we in the United States, understand that each man speaks for himself but that in other countries, particularly Communist countries, whatever is said by an official person is assumed to be policy, determined in advance of the address. Also the Administration takes the position that it may wish to time a case softly, mildly or angrily and that it alone shall determine the degree of emphasis.

For instance, when a speaker wrote, "Communist China has territorial objectives of its own which must be reckoned with quite apart from loyalties to Moscow." It is possible to understand the reason for the destruction of the second clause of the sentence. It must be a matter of policy to acknowledge the degree of the split between Russia and Red China.

The issue then comes down to this:

1. Public officials, unless authorized, should be silent;
2. Public officials should speak but their speeches should conform to policy;
3. Public officials should be free to say anything they choose.

Dear Abby: Clear Conscience, Suspicion

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know if it is proper to wear your engagement and wedding rings if you are divorced. I have two children, and people look at me though I have never been married when they see me with my children and notice I am not wearing any rings. To tell you the truth I did not put away my rings, my husband took them back when we got divorced. I have been thinking about buying myself another set to keep people from wondering what kind of a woman I am.

DIVORCED
DEAR DIVORCED: Don't buy yourself a set of rings. Anyone who is interested in knowing your background will ask you. As for the "guessers"—let them guess. YOU know you were married.

DEAR ABBY: For 15 years I have been working in a store. I like the work (I am a clerk) and give the customers good service. Recently, women customers have been asking me, "What is your nationality?" You have an accent. Where are you from? Do I have to give strangers my life history? I meet all kinds of people during my day's work and I would never ask such a question of them. How shall I answer?

D.A.K.
DEAR D.A.K.: The simplest answer is a two-word reply. "From France, Germany, Holland" (or wherever you are from). You needn't recite your life history. If any questions are asked beyond that, start selling.

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever heard of anybody going down the aisle in a wheelchair? Well, that's what I would like to do, but everybody is trying to talk me out of it. I am a polio victim, have been in a wheelchair for six years, and will never walk again. I have always wanted a beautiful church wedding with a veil and my fiancé says there is no reason why I shouldn't have it. Tell me honestly if you think I am foolish for wanting this type of wedding in my condition.

ON WHEELS
DEAR ON WHEELS: I am sure there are others who have gone down the aisle in a wheelchair. I see no reason why you shouldn't, if you and your fiancé desire it. Keep your wheels oiled, and good luck.

DEAR ABBY: Is it all right to have married bridesmaids? My sister says that it is and I say it isn't because the word BRIDE-MAID means "maiden" or unmarried person.

NEEDS TO KNOW
DEAR NEEDS: It is permissible to have married bridesmaids and is frequently done.

Dear Abby: Clear Conscience, Suspicion

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know if it is proper to wear your engagement and wedding rings if you are divorced. I have two children, and people look at me though I have never been married when they see me with my children and notice I am not wearing any rings. To tell you the truth I did not put away my rings, my husband took them back when we got divorced. I have been thinking about buying myself another set to keep people from wondering what kind of a woman I am.

DEAR DIVORCED: Don't buy yourself a set of rings. Anyone who is interested in knowing your background will ask you. As for the "guessers"—let them guess. YOU know you were married.

DEAR ABBY: For 15 years I have been working in a store. I like the work (I am a clerk) and give the customers good service. Recently, women customers have been asking me, "What is your nationality?" You have an accent. Where are you from? Do I have to give strangers my life history? I meet all kinds of people during my day's work and I would never ask such a question of them. How shall I answer?

DEAR D.A.K.: The simplest answer is a two-word reply, "From France, Germany, Holland" (or wherever you are from). You need not recite your life history. If any questions are asked beyond that, start selling.

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever heard of anybody going down the aisle in a wheelchair? Well, that's what I would like to do, but everybody is trying to talk me out of it. I am a polio victim, have been in a wheelchair for six years, and will never walk again. I have always wanted a beautiful church wedding with a veil and my fiancé says there is no reason why I shouldn't have it. Tell me honestly if you think I am foolish for wanting this type of wedding in my condition.

ON WHEELS
DEAR ON WHEELS: I am sure there are others who have gone down the aisle in a wheelchair. I see no reason why you shouldn't, if you and your fiancé desire it. Keep your wheels oiled, and good luck.

DEAR ABBY: Is it all right to have married bridesmaids? My sister says that it is and I say it isn't because the word BRIDESMAID means "maiden" or unmarried person.

NEEDS TO KNOW
DEAR NEEDS: It is permissible to have married bridesmaids and is frequently done.

boasts a new blend of superior coffee beans from the world's finest coffee plantations, makes a drink that is rich, full-flavored and wonderfully satisfying. Carry it with you in a vacuum bottle, along with a couple of brownies for your sweet tooth, ready to enjoy whenever fatigue catches up with you.

WHO HAS IT? — Danny Hicks (51) and Dave Horn (41) of Logan Elm reach upward to snare the basketball in this moment of action last night at Athens. Posing an obstacle is Gary Stanley (22) of Fairland. An inspired Logan Elm team emerged as one of the eight top Class A squads in the state by handing the able Fairland crew a 58-53 loss.

Cinderella Braves

the first half. Tom Day potted six of 13 attempts to add 12 points to the losing score. Eddie Capper collected three points.

THE SUPERB defensive play that Merrin's cagers have exhibited in gaining the finals of the regional tournament was once again an important factor in the victory.

Hicks provided offensive spark needed as he displayed a tremendous effort in the first half. He sank six of eight attempts from the field and dropped in four charity tosses to score 16 points in the first 16 minutes of play. Eight of those points came on rebound shots.

In the second half Hicks only hit two shots out of 12 attempts but he finished the game with 20 big points to top the Logan Elm scoring.

A little whirlwind named Gary Hardman sealed the nets on five of nine attempts from the field and three of four charity tosses for a total of 13 points. The youngest cager on the floor last night, he played an excellent game.

In the final frantic minutes, he appeared to be the coolest performer on the floor. Hardman was the key man in the Braves control of the ball in the fading minutes of the tilt.

Spangler, hitting only four of 15 attempts from the field, came through when the pressure was on. The two foul shots he sank in the closing seconds gave the Braves some much needed breathing room. For the evening, he had a total of 12 on four field goals and four charity tosses.

CLARKE tallied eight points, Dave Horn hit for four, and Bob Parker netted a foul shot as all The Braves who played broke into the scoring column.

It was another team victory for the Logan Elm cagers, coach Merrin said.

Sixth ranked Ft. Frye topped Paint Valley in the first game of the evening, and will be Logan Elm's opponents in the finals to night. Ft. Frye is one of two unbeaten teams in the state.

Last years champions, Ayersville, knocked off Coldwater to stay in the running as the only other school with a perfect record.

Mae Vore, Paint Valley, garnered scoring laurels in the first game with 20 points, but the superior height of the Ft. Frye cagers was too much of an obstacle for the Ross Countians to overcome.

The winners of the preliminary tilt had a well balanced scoring attack. Jack Clark paced the offense with 19 points. Phil Stewart collected 17. Gary Bates added 14 and Heber Ullman six. Terry Bates and Neil Huck hit for four and three respectively as six Ft. Frye players contributed to the winning total.

IN EARLY February, 500 class A high school basketball teams started on the tournament trail. Last night the field was reduced to eight, and the Logan Elm Braves are undoubtedly the Cinderella team of the tournaments. In the final cage ratings of the season the county cagers were completely ignored. Many supposedly mightier teams have fallen by the wayside, but the Braves are in the thick of the battle for the State crown.

The consensus of opinion is that Pickaway County can well be proud of the showing coach Merrin's cagers have made thus far in tournament competition.

Loyal Braves Fans Stand Behind Team

The Logan Elm Booster club and the village of Tarlton gave the Logan Elm Braves a rousing send-off yesterday afternoon when the team left for the Southeastern basketball tournament at Athens yesterday.

About 300 loyal fans attended the pep rally at the high school. Then a small motorcade drove through Tarlton enroute to Athens.

Nelson Jones, chief of the local volunteer fire unit, met the team at the edge of town and escorted them through town with the fire truck.

The streets of the small community were lined with people cheering Keith Merrin and his Braves as they drove through town on their way to Athens.

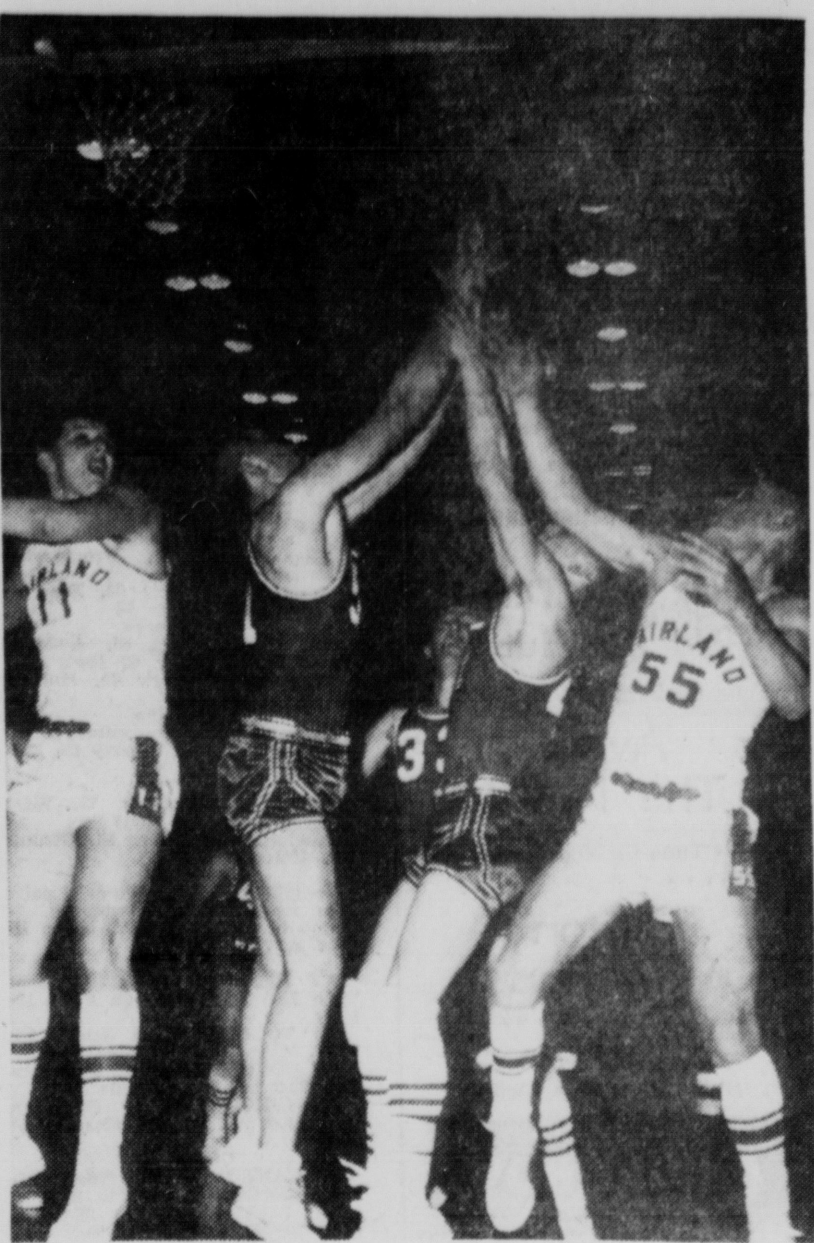

BANNERS and signs wishing the Braves good luck were displayed from houses and light poles. At one corner was a huge horseshoe with the words "Good Luck, Braves".

The student council presented the Basketball team with a banner inscribed "Logan Elm, Home of the Braves".

Officials of the Logan Elm Booster Club announced today that a tremendous welcome is being planned for the cagers when they arrive home tomorrow. As yet arrangements are incomplete, since the exact arrival time of the team is uncertain.

But win or lose, the fans intend to show this fabulous team that their tournament efforts have been soundly appreciated and thoroughly enjoyed.

Mike McCormick of the San Francisco Giants threw 33 home run balls during the 1961 season, more than any other National League pitcher.

I'VE GOT IT — Danny Hicks of Logan Elm wraps both hands around the ball and gets support in the process from teammate Dave Horn. Chuck Spangler (33) waits to aid if needed. Trying to halt the maneuver are James Harper (11) and Victor Lewis (55) of losing Fairland. (Photos by Ron Warren)

Two County Boat Agencies Listed

The Marine Mart, 8752 Harrisburg Pike, Orient, and the Division of Parks Office, Hargus Lake, Circleville, have been designated as boat registration agencies in Pickaway County.

A list of 250 boat registration agencies throughout Ohio has been announced by Charles W. Krier, chief of the registration section, Ohio Division of Watercraft. All of these agencies have been supplied with registration forms, plastic stern plates, metal motor tags and related supplies.

Krier states that it is likely that several additional agencies will be activated in the near future to insure easy availability to boaters in all parts of the state.

"One significant change in boat registration will be noted this year," said Krier. "For the first time all outboard motors will be registered on a separate form at a flat $3 fee."

Coleman Sparkles In Redleg Play

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Gordon Coleman is one Cincinnati Red whose future seems secure.

The handsome first baseman, who has played in every exhibition game, let go with his first home run Friday, helping beat the New York Mets, 5-3.

Coleman, who hit 286 last year, is going at a .273 clip now. But this bothers no one. Least of all Manager Fred Hutchinson. Nor does the club's losing record in exhibitions.

"It's the rule, rather than the exception, that when players reach the point of security, such as fellows like (Frank) Robinson, Coleman, (Vada) Pinson, and so on, they don't bear down too hard in the exhibition games," Hutchinson said.

Eddie Arcaro has won the last three runnings of the Jockey Club Gold Cup. He has won the race 10 times.

J66

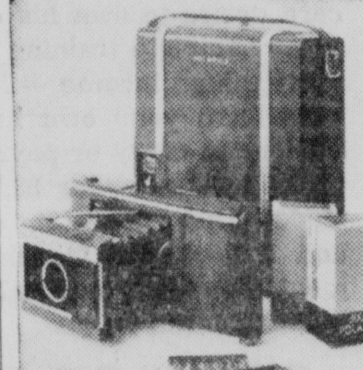

Now - A Polaroid Electric Eye Camera for Less Than $90!

The Polaroid J66 costs less than the first Land Camera model introduced more than 12 years ago!

It takes the same large pictures — but with what a difference. It's fully automatic. There are no settings you have to make. An electric eye chooses the exposure. You don't even have to focus. You don't need an expensive light meter. The flash gun is built in too. And your picture is ready in just 10 seconds.

There are 12 years of improvements, refinements and brand new ideas in this camera. And yet it actually costs less than the first Land Camera on the market.

Liston Rated As Favorite Against Floyd

NEW YORK (AP) — "I don't think there's nobody in the world as good as myself."

Charles (Sonny) Liston, dripping confidence and contempt, had that comment on the fight he will have next summer with champion Floyd Patterson for the world heavyweight title.

They signed the contracts Friday for the fight, which could be the richest of all time. The promoter, Tom Bolan, predicted a gross of at least $6 million. There will be no live television.

Bolan said six cities, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Washington and Seattle were under consideration as the site, which will be picked by Patterson.

The champion will also pick the date and announce it within a month. It will be not earlier than June 18 nor later than Sept. 30.

"Seattle has offered us a $1-million guarantee to hold the fight in connection with the World's Fair," Bolan said. "We will explore all possibilities and take the one giving us the best deal."

Liston made it clear at the signing ceremonies that he thinks he is getting a bad deal. He signed for 12½ per cent of the gross. Patterson gets 45 per cent of the live gate, and 55 per cent of the other rights, plus the right to dictate time, place and promoter for a return match if Liston wins.

Liston already is listed a 7-5 favorite.

Bibb Falk, former major league outfielder, is preparing for his 20th season as baseball coach at the University of Texas.

Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants is baseball's highest salaried player for the second straight year. He will get $90,000 for 1962.

Rooney, an all-SCOL choice at his center position and all-Ohio honorable mention, received a full athletic scholarship from Toledo. Under the terms of his contract, the University pays all expenses for tuition books, room and board.

Reichmanis was a tackle on the All-SCOL team. His contract calls for Toledo to foot two-thirds of the bill for room, board and books.

Rooney plans to pursue a course in pre-dentistry. Reichmanis announced that he planned to study a curriculum leading to a degree in engineering.

Ohioan Drives Pacer To Chicago Victory

Frisco '5' Upsets Leading Kansas

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco Saints upset league-leading Kansas City 5-120-53 Friday night despite the point performance by the Steers' Bill Bridges.

However, Kansas City already has clinched first place in the American Basketball League's Western Division for the second half. The Steers won the league's first-half playoff.

Bridges was the game's high point man with 28. No other ABL games were scheduled.

Texan Sets Pace In St. Pete Open

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A 25-year-old Texan, Frank Boynton of Corpus Christi, goes into the second round of the $20,000 St. Petersburg Open Golf Tournament today with a one-stroke lead.

Just two strokes behind is Tommy Jacobs of Bermuda Dunes, Calif., with a 34-33-67.

Charles (Sonny) Liston, dripping confidence and contempt, had that comment on the fight he will have next summer with champion Floyd Patterson for the world heavyweight title.

They signed the contracts Friday for the fight, which could be the richest of all time. The promoter, Tom Bolan, predicted a gross of at least $6 million. There will be no live television.

Bolan said six cities, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Washington and Seattle were under consideration as the site, which will be picked by Patterson.

The champion will also pick the date and announce it within a month. It will be not earlier than June 18 nor later than Sept. 30.

"Seattle has offered us a $1-million guarantee to hold the fight in connection with the World's Fair," Bolan said. "We will explore all possibilities and take the one giving us the best deal."

Liston made it clear at the signing ceremonies that he thinks he is getting a bad deal. He signed for 12½ per cent of the gross. Patterson gets 45 per cent of the live gate, and 55 per cent of the other rights, plus the right to dictate time, place and promoter for a return match if Liston wins.

Liston already is listed a 7-5 favorite.

Bibb Falk, former major league outfielder, is preparing for his 20th season as baseball coach at the University of Texas.

Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants is baseball's highest salaried player for the second straight year. He will get $90,000 for 1962.

Rooney, Reichmanis Accept Scholarships at Toledo U.

Pat Rooney and Vern Reichmanis, outstanding linemen on Circleville's 1961 SCOL co-champion football team, have accepted football scholarships at Toledo University. It was announced today by Carl Benhase, head football coach at CHS.

Rooney, an all-SCOL choice at his center position and all-Ohio honorable mention, received a full athletic scholarship from Toledo. Under the terms of his contract, the University pays all expenses for tuition books, room and board.

Reichmanis was a tackle on the All-SCOL team. His contract calls for Toledo to foot two-thirds of the bill for room, board and books.

Rooney plans to pursue a course in pre-dentistry. Reichmanis announced that he planned to study a curriculum leading to a degree in engineering.

OSU-Kentucky
Game Tonight
To Be Rare Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

They're all big now, but none may be bigger than Ohio State's match with careful Kentucky to night in the finals of the NCAA regional tourney at Iowa City, Iowa.

The mighty Buckeyes, driving toward the NCAA title denied them in overtime by Cincinnati last season, handed Western Ken- tucky with ease 93-73 in their first tourney test Friday night.

Kentucky, however, may be a different matter. The Wildcats, whose disciplined attention to Coach Adolph Rupp's deliberately designed patterns, brought them the No. 3 spot in the nation, romped past Butler 81-60 in the other semifinal Friday night.

Their match tonight may be the glamor game of the four regional tourneys, which also sees defend- ing champion Cincinnati going against Colorado. Also on the night's schedule are finals in the NCAA small college tourney, fi- nals in the NAIA, and two first- round and two quarter-final matches in the National Invita- tion Tourney.

Here's the NCAA lineup:
Wake Forest (20-8) vs. Villa- nova (21-6) at College Park, Md. Kentucky (25-2) vs. Ohio State (24-1) at Iowa City, Iowa. Colorado (19-6) vs. Cincinnati (26-2) at Manhattan, Kan. Oregon State (23-4) vs. UCLA (17-10) at Provo, Utah.

The winners advance to the semifinals at Louisville, Ky., Sacramento State (21-9) and Mount St. Mary's of Maryland (23-6) tangle for the NCAA small college championship at Evans- ville, Ind., while Prairie View A&M (26-3) and Westminster (Pa) (26-2) are matched for the NAIA title at Kansas City.

The NIT, in New York's Madison Square Garden, has Duquesne paired with Navy and Colorado State against Holy Cross in after- noon first-round games and Loy- ola of Chicago playing Temple and Houston vs. Dayton in quar- terfinals tonight.

The victories by Kentucky and Ohio State, top-ranked team in the nation for the second year in a row, set up a replay of last year's Midwest showdown, won by Ohio State 87-74. Neither had much trouble in advancing Friday night.

Ohio State used its usual fast break to turn a 27-26 deficit late in the first half to a 43-30 lead at intermission, even though Al-

America Jerry Lucas was on the bench with foul trouble at the time. Sophomore Gary Bradds and veteran John Havlicek led the surge, which put the Buck- eyes ahead to stay.

Cotton Nash scored 23 points and Larry Pursiful had 26 in Kentucky's easy conquest.

Cincinnati, No. 2 in the nation, got a 24-point performance from hulking Paul Hogue in a 66-46 blasting of Creighton. Colorado swept into an 11-point halftime advantage then held off frantic Texas Tech rallies for a 67-60 victory.

In the East, Wake Forest took a 96-85 overtime triumph over St. Joseph's of Philadelphia while Villanova overcame a 12-point deficit and went on to defeat New York University 79-76 on Hubie White's 31-point showing. Wake Forest trailed most of the way, before Billy Packer hit a jumper with four seconds to go to tie it. The Deacons then poured in 22 points in overtime.

Oregon State overcame small, determined Pepperdine 69-67 and UCLA took Utah State 73-62. Oregon State used its superior re- bounding to offset Pepperdine's 41 per cent shooting, while UCLA built a 13-point halftime lead and took it from there.

The semifinals of the small col- lege tourney were the closest of them all. Sacramento State edged Nebraska Wesleyan 74-73 in double overtime and Mount St. Mary's advanced with a 58-57 tri- umph over Southern Illinois. A free throw by Jim Greene won for Sacramento State and Ed Pfeiffer's 20-foot shot at the buz- zer put Mount St. Mary's in the finals.

Prairie View A&M crushed Western Illinois 80-68 and West- minster advanced with a 54-45 decision over Southeastern Okla- homa State in the NAIA round.

Horace Rawlins, a 19-year-old assistant pro at Newport, R.I., Golf Club, won the first U.S. Open golf title in 1895. He's still the youngest golfer ever to win the tourna- ment.

Stan Musial needs only 30 hits to become the hittingest batter in National League history. He starts the 1962 season with 3,401. Honus Wagner had 3,430.

Baron Rupp Believes Key To Be Buckeye Accuracy

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Ohio State and Kentucky lived up to their national basketball rankings in their first test in the drive toward the national collegiate title, but one goes to the sidelines tonight.

The top-ranked Buckeyes and third-ranked Kentucky collide in the finals of the NCAA's Midwest Regional tournament, the survivor advancing to the national meet at Louisville, Ky., next week.

Perhaps Kentucky coach Adolph Rupp was looking back at last year's Midwest showdown between the two teams, which Ohio State won 87-74, when he said, "If they're hitting and we're not lucky, I'm leaving at halftime."

However, the veteran coach, who has guided a record 13 teams into the NCAA playoffs, added, "If they're not hitting, we'll give them a real ball game."

Both clubs were deadly from the field in Friday night's semifinals. Kentucky connected on 47 per cent of its shots in an 81-60 conquest of Butler, and Ohio State hit 46 per cent in its 93-73 whipping of Western Kentucky.

Cotton Nash, Kentucky's flashy sophomore, fired the Wildcats with 23 points and 10 rebounds before he fouled out with four minutes left.

"Nash plays like the game was invented for him," said Ohio

State coach Fred Taylor. Taylor's Buckeye star, three time All-America Jerry Lucas, had less success.

Lucas sat out the last eight minutes of the first half after collecting three fouls, and finished with only nine points, far below his 22-point average.

"Lucas' substitute, Gary Bradds, gave us the help we needed," Taylor said.

Bradds, a 6-foot-8 sophomore slated to succeed Lucas next year, scored five points and rebounded fiercely in an Ohio State surge in the last six minutes of the first half in which the Buckeyes turned a 27-26 deficit into a 43-30 lead.

However, veteran John Havlicek and junior Doug McDonald powered the Buckeyes' 24th victory in 25 games. Havlicek scored 17 points and led the Ohio State fast break, while McDonald pumped in 13 second-half points for a total of 21 to top Buckeye scorers.

Western Kentucky's Robby Rascoe tallied 26 to match his season average as the Hilltoppers bowed out with a 17-9 mark.

Larry Pursiful, Kentucky playmaker and the only starter back from last year's team, led the Wildcats with 26 points.

Butler, smallest team in the tournament, battled on even terms in the first half, then dropped out of contention.

Colorado Gets Chance Tonight To Test Bearcats' Defenses

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—It's mighty Cincinnati against well-drilled Colorado for the NCAA Midwest Regional basketball championship tonight.

And Colorado coach Sox Walseth's problem is:

How do you drill a team to cope with possibly the best group of backboard retrievers in the business, and a team that plays as if it invented defense as well?

None of them do it better than this Cincinnati Bearcat bunch which routed Creighton 66-46 Friday night in the semifinals after Colorado had turned back Texas Tech 61-66.

"I thought we looked pretty good on defense," was Cincinnati coach Ed Jucker's understatement.

Not only did a usually high-scoring Creighton team manage only 46 points, the Bluejays hit only 19.4 per cent of their shots, and their sophomore ace, capable Paul Silas, grabbed only seven rebounds. Silas, a 6-7, 200-pounder, just happened to be the major college champ at rebounds with an average of 23.6 per game. He had led the rebounding in every game this season.

But he had no chance against the wall of muscle and steel-sprung rebounders that Cincinnati, defending national champion, wrapped around the basket.

Paul Hogue, a 6-9, 240-pound senior, and George Wilson, a 6-9 200-pound sophomore, did the major job against Silas & Co., and Hogue found time to score 24 points in about 30 minutes of action.

The Bearcats, now 26-2 with a 15-game winning streak, look every bit as capable as the team that beat Ohio State in overtime for the national championship a year ago.

Jucker, however, prefers to play them one at a time—"and tonight we play Colorado," he said, hedging on whether he's al-

Upsets Mark High School Cage Tournaments

Only 16 Teams Remain To Vie for Berths In State Finals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Upsets whirled across Ohio's high school basketball courts Friday night, but an all-star cast qualified for tonight's regional championship finals.

Belted out of the running in the regional semifinals in Class AA were fifth-ranked Toledo Central Catholic and tenth-ranked Marietta, a pair of once-beaten clubs.

Toledo Central was dumped in the last two seconds by Lima Senior (13-7), on Bob Gunn's pair of free throws at Bowling Green. Gunn led the scoring with 26, including the final half-dozen. Marietta, like Toledo Central, had a 22-1 record but fell before Canton Lincoln at Columbus by an astounding 69-43.

In Class A the big casualties were three once-beaten teams—Anderson Pymatuning Valley, Proctorville Fairland, one of last year's state tourney qualifiers, and West Liberty Salem.

Berlin Hiland (24-2) needed an overtime to nick Pymatuning Valley 65-62. Circleville Logan Elm (20-3) ousted Fairland 58-53, and West Liberty Salem lost 71-69 to New Lebanon Dixie, also in an extra session. Also victimized were Miller City's 1950 state champs, who lost 69-64 to Bucyrus Holmes-Liberty in two overtimes.

But plenty of class abounds in the 16 survivors who will battle it out tonight for the eight berths in next week's state tournament at St. John Arena.

Four of the Top 10 in the final Class AA Associated Press poll are still on hand—but one must bow tonight at Cincinnati where second-ranked Hamilton Taft (24-0) goes against seventh-rated Dayton Chaminade (22-1).

Taft won rather handily over Clayton Northmont, 65-54, but Chaminade came from behind after trailing all the way for a 57-56 conquest over Cincinnati Withdraw.

Cleveland East Tech, top-rated in the poll, meets Cuyahoga Falls tonight at Kent. Tech is 22-0, the Falls 19-5.

Mansfield St. Peter, fourth in the ratings, turned back Elyria at Toledo by 67-53 for its 26th in a row, and goes against Lima Senior's giant-killers tonight.

Stuebenville's Big Red, which defeated Newark's three-time state champions by 57-52 at Columbus, carries an 18-6 record into tonight's final against Canton Lincoln (20-3).

Top-ranked Ayersville, defending Class A champion, and sixth-rated Beverly Fort Frye continue their winning ways. The title-holding Pilots made it 26-0 with a 50-39 win over Coldwater at Lima, and meet Holmes-Liberty (21-3) tonight for a ticket to the state meet. Fort Frye (25-0) ousted Bainbridge Paint Valley 63-52 at Athens, and goes against Logan Elm tonight.

Cincinnati DePorres, with the tournament's poorest record of 15-7, defeated Columbus University 58-56 at Troy to earn a final spot opposite Dixie (24-1). At Canton the finalists are Berlin Hiland and Cortland Lakeview (22-5), the latter a 42-35 victor over Hudson.

The eight Class AA finalists have a 164-22 record, the Class A contingent 177-21—so plenty of talent must emerge for next week's title round.

Coaches of tonight's victors will be in Columbus at noon Sunday for a luncheon, tournament instructions and tickets for next Friday's opening games in the big playoffs.

Going into tonight's frays, only eight of 433 Class AA teams, and eight of exactly 500 Class A starters, have survived the tournament tests.

"You can throw that one out. This isn't the same Colorado team."

Pitching Seen Big Problem For Cleveland

CESA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians go into their second week of exhibition games today against the San Francisco Giants with a 4-3 record. But there hasn't been much to indicate pitching isn't going to be a Tribe problem.

The Los Angeles Angels got only five hits off Gary Bell and Bob Allen in losing 10-2 Friday, and the Angels dominated Cleveland six unearned runs, so it was an easy victory.

But Bell, who hopes to make 1962 a big season after two campaigns spoiled by a sore arm, had control troubles. He didn't allow a hit until the fifth, but he hit two batters and walked four and could have been in real trouble in the fifth if Al Luplow hadn't made a shoestring catch of a liner with two on.

Allen allowed three hits and one run in four innings, but Manager Mel McGaha wasn't greatly impressed. "He walked four men," McGaha said.

One reason the Indians are hurting for pitching was visiting in Cleveland Friday—Jim (Mudcat) Grant, on leave from the Army. Called up last fall and working in the motor pool at Ft. Belvoir, Va., Grant hopes he won't have to miss most of the pennant race.

Billy Moran, infielder for the Los Angeles Angels, studies industrial management at Georgia Tech during the off season.

Ohio State Senator's Death Raises Constitutional Point

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The death last Wednesday of Sen. J. E. Simpson, Hardin County Republican, reduced the Republican margin in the Ohio Senate to exactly one — 19-18 — and 19 votes in a 38-member Senate is not enough to pass a bill.

Ohio voters last November approved a constitutional amendment which, in the present case, would allow other Republican senators to name a successor to Simpson, a veteran of 22 years in legislative halls.

But, since the appointment could be made only when the senate is in session, the prospects of an appointment is remote.

The only way the GOP-controlled legislature can go into session next January is through a special session called by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle — and he isn't planning one.

A senate appointment to a vacancy in such a closely divided body — when and if such an appointment ever is made — could raise an interesting point of constitutional law.

The Ohio Constitution provides in Article II, Section 9: "... And no law shall be passed, in either House, without the concurrence of a majority of all the members elected thereto."

Let us consider a hypothetical case in which DiSalle called the legislature into special sessions and the Republican members proceeded to appoint a replacement for Simpson. Then a controversial, Republican-backed bill comes up for passage. All 18 Democrats vote against it and all 19 elected Republicans vote for it — one short of the constitutional majority. Then the appointed Republican casts his vote for the measure.

It would seem inconceivable that some legal eagle among the Democrats would not challenge the winning vote on grounds it was not cast by an "elected" member of the senate.

It then would take a court decision to interpret the situation. That situation, of course, is unlikely to arise this year.

Simpson's successor, barring the unexpected, will be chosen by the voters of his district next fall. He will serve the last two years of Simpson's four-year term. Counties in the district are Marion, Seneca, Crawford, Wyandot, Logan, Hardin and Union.

The secretary of state has ruled that a blank must be left on each party's primary election ballot for a write-in candidate gets 15 percent or more of the total party vote in the primary, he will be the nominee. Otherwise, the party's seven county chairmen in the district will huddle and choose a nominee.

District Republicans are attempting to persuade Rep. Kenneth Robinson of Marion to step into the breach. He previously announced he was retiring from the House to devote his full time to his law practice.

There was no immediate word from the Democratic camp.

Soviet Claim On Moon Eyed By Scientist

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If the Soviets reach the moon first, could they get away with shooting down American spaceships that try to land there?

A prominent space scientist thinks they could if they set up a network of bases before the Americans arrived.

Dandridge Cole, analyst for the missile and space vehicle department of General Electric Co., gave this opinion to a meeting of the Institute of Aerospace Sciences Thursday night.

"If Russia sets up a base at each lunar pole and four around the equator they could then lay claim to the whole moon and threaten to shoot down any aggressor," he said.

"If we did attempt a landing and our vehicle was shot down, our protests would carry no more weight than in previous cases when our aircraft have been shot down. A retaliatory attack against their moon bases would be aggression in the eyes of the world and might well lead to nuclear war."

Sewer Bidding Is Scheduled

Bidding for construction of Circleville's Sanitary Sewer District No. 2 has been scheduled for letting.

A description of the work will be published in Monday's legal section.

All easements have been obtained for the project. The district will serve the new Nicholas Drive Elementary School which opens here in September.

The district will provide sanitary sewer facilities for about 400 acres of property inside the city limits.

Another 'Mr. Wilson' Due To Test Dennis the Menace

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There's a new Mr. Wilson next door to Dennis the Menace.

He may be a new neighbor to Dennis, but he's an old friend to any television watcher. Replacing the late Joseph Kearns on the Sunday night CBS show is Gal Gordon, the apex of apoplexy.

Gordon's fits of frustration and temper have become a television institution, along with Perry Como's letters and Chester's limp.

So accomplished is Gordon's art that he has appeared regularly on more television series than any other performer—by far. He was Eve Arden's irascible principal in 130 outtings of "Our Miss Brooks."

He has had running roles in "My Favorite Husband," the Danny Thomas show, Jack Benny's show and "Pete and Gladys."

He even had his own series, "The Brothers," with Bob Sweeney. It had loyal fans but was killed after 26 outtings—by network politics, says Gordon.

When Joe Kearns died, the producers of "Dennis the Menace" said, "Get Gordon."

"I've already done two with Dennis," said Gordon, who showed up for lunch with a make-up black eye.

"I'll do six more to finish out this season. After that, I don't know. I'm committed to Tony Owens for a pilot I did with Robert Sherman and her three sons—it will be shown on the Donna Reed show. If it sells, and Tony thinks it will, then I'll be doing that one. If not, I could re-turn to Dennis. Either way, I'd be happy; they're both delightful shows."

Gordon will be introduced as the brother of Mr. Wilson, who has gone away for a while.

Admittedly the role comes easy to him. He has been playing explosive windbags ever since he stumbled on the characterization on the old Fibber McGee and Molly radio show.

Does he ever tire of playing what he calls "stuffy blowhards?" "Not as long as they keep paying me," he said.

Ohio Water Problem Told In New Film

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohioans now have a 30-minute movie which tells of a problem which is getting worse—the state's shrinking water supply.

The film, put out by the Ohio Water Commission, disclosed that in 1960 Ohioans used 13 billion gallons of water a day—more than can be replenished. But by the year 2000, 38 years away, the state will require 24 billion gallons of water a day.

Commissioner George E. Miller of Dayton said the obvious answer to most of the problem is more reservoirs for both water supply and recreation and pipelines to Lake Erie from all areas of the state. However money will be the stumbling block.

Copies of the color film are available for loan to groups free of charge from the Department of Natural Resources. Copies also are available through the Department of Health, the Agricultural Extension Service and the Cleveland Public Library. Schools may obtain the film from the Department of Education.

Lawsuit Asks Erasure of 'Suicide' Tag

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Allie E. Star of Niles, Ohio, filed suit in common pleas court today asking that her husband's death certificate be changed from "suicide" to "accidental death."

She brought the unusual action against the Ohio Department of Health and its director, Dr. Ralph E. Dwork.

Her attorneys explained that Willard F. Star died in December 1959, from a gunshot wound. They said his body was found six feet away from the death weapon which was on a six-foot shelf. They contend the coroner did not conduct an investigation, inquest or hearing.

"It appears that he (the coroner) filed an improper report," said attorney Jack H. Patricoff. "We feel that suicide was an illegal finding."

Patricoff said the coroner cannot determine the manner of death but only the medical cause. Dr. Dwork, in rejecting the ap-

4 Ohio GIs Reported Aboard Airplane Missing in Pacific

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three career soldiers and a recalled reservist from Ohio are among the 107 persons aboard a chartered airliner missing over the western Pacific since Thursday morning.

The soldiers, among 93 military personnel aboard, were en route to South Viet Nam.

Mrs. John A. Karibo of Bellefontaine, mother of Sgt. John A. Karibo, said her son, a six-year veteran, was home for a few days two weeks ago. "He had his orders then to go to Viet Nam," she said.

Karibo is married and has a daughter, Kim, 1½.

His parents received a telegram from Washington at noon Friday notifying them their son was on the plane.

In Cincinnati, Mrs. Edward Bakes, mother-in-law of Pfc. Charles W. Griffith, said: "When we heard the news last night (Thursday), we just put two and two together and figured he was on it." Griffith had ended a leave last Friday during which he told his family he was going to Viet Nam to do some teaching.

Mrs. Griffith was at work when the official telegram came. A company nurse said the wife went into shock after getting the news.

Griffith, 29, was recalled to active duty last Sept. 23. He had elected to remain in the reserves after four years of Army service including the Korean war.

Another Ohioan reported on the missing plane is Mr. Sgt. John A. Thomas. His wife, Dorothy, and their two children live with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Fay on the outskirts of Ridgeway in Logan County.

The family does not have a telephone and could not be contacted. A neighbor said he understood Thomas had only a few more months in the Army before retirement with 20 years service.

Another soldier, Sgt. Robert J. Bako, is a native of Elyria. However, he and his wife, Gertrude, had made their home in Elbridge, N.Y.

Despite gloomy reports from the search area, officials said they have not given up hope for those aboard the four-engine Super Constellation of the Flying Tiger Line. The plane presumably crashed or ditched after leaving Guam Thursday night for a 1,600-mile hop to Clark Air Force Base near Manila.

Application to change the death certificate, said he cannot substitute his opinion for that of the coroner.

The propeller-driven plane, with a crew of 11 Americans, left Travis Air Force Base in northern California Tuesday carrying 93 U.S. Army men and three South Vietnamese bound for South Viet Nam. The Army men reportedly were to join the U.S. forces bolstering the South Viet Nam government's fight against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The plane made scheduled refueling and service stops at Hawaii, Wake Island and Guam. It was last heard from 270 miles west of Guam, when the pilot radioed a routine message without a hint of trouble.

After fruitless flights Friday, officials tripled the search area and pressed nearly 100 planes and nine ships into systematic crisscrossing of more than 250,000 square miles of calm Pacific waters.

Ohio State Senator's Death Raises Constitutional Point

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The death last Wednesday of Sen. J. E. Simpson, Hardin County Republican, reduced the Republican margin in the Ohio Senate to exactly one — 19-18 — and 19 votes in a 38-member Senate is not enough to pass a bill.

Ohio voters last November approved a constitutional amendment which, in the present case, would allow other Republican senators to name a successor to Simpson, a veteran of 22 years in legislative halls.

But, since the appointment could be made only when the senate is in session, the prospects of an appointment is remote.

The only way the GOP-controlled legislature can go into session next January is through a special-session call by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle—and he isn't planning one.

A senate appointment to a vacancy in such a closely divided body — when and if such an appointment ever is made — could raise an interesting point of constitutional law.

The Ohio Constitution provides in Article II, Section 9: ".... And no law shall be passed, in either House, without the concurrence of a majority of all the members elected thereto."

Let us consider a hypothetical case in which DiSalle called the legislature into special sessions and the Republican members proceeded to appoint a replacement for Simpson. Then a controversial, Republican-backed bill comes up for passage. All 19 Democrats vote against it and all 19 elected Republicans vote for it — one short of the constitutional majority. Then the appointed Republican casts his vote for the measure.

It would seem incomprehensible that some legal eagle among the Democrats would not challenge the winning vote on grounds it was not cast by an "elected" member of the senate.

It then would take a court decision to interpret the situation. That situation, of course, is unlikely to arise this year.

Simpson's successor, barring the unexpected, will be chosen by the voters of his district next fall. He will serve the last two years of Simpson's four-year term. Counties in the district are Marion, Seneca, Crawford, Wyandot, Logan, Hardin and Union.

The secretary of state has ruled that a blank must be left on each party's primary election ballot for a writen for nominees. If the top write-in candidate gets 15 per cent or more of the total party vote in the primary, he will be the nominee. Otherwise, the party's seven county chairmen in the district will huddle and choose a nominee.

District Republicans are attempting to persuade Rep. Kenneth Robinson of Marion to step into the breach. He previously announced he was retiring from the House to devote his full time to his law practice.

There was no immediate word from the Democratic camp.

Soviet Claim On Moon Eyed By Scientist

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If the Soviets reach the moon first, could they get away with shooting down American spaceships that try to land there?

A prominent space scientist thinks they could if they set up a network of bases before the Americans arrived.

Dandridge Cole, analyst for the missile and space vehicle department of General Electric Co., gave this opinion to a meeting of the Institute of Aerospace Sciences Thursday night.

"If Russia sets up a base at each lunar pole and four around the equator they could then lay claim to the whole moon and threaten to shoot down any aggressor," he said.

"If we did attempt a landing and our vehicle was shot down, our protests would carry no more weight than in previous cases when our aircraft have been shot down. A retaliatory attack against their moon bases would be aggression in the eyes of the world and might well lead to nuclear war."

Athens Man Handed Hard Labor Term

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Jerry Linscott, 21, of near Athens, on trial earlier this week for the beating death of a Sandusky County school teacher, was sentenced to six months of hard labor Friday.

The sentence, by Common Pleas Judge John W. Bolin, followed a jury decision Wednesday in which Linscott was found innocent of first-degree manslaughter but guilty of assault and battery.

Linscott was charged in the death of Charles Crawford, 29, a Gibsonburg school teacher killed last June while attending a workshop at Ohio University.

The state contended that Linscott and Gerald Ulbrich, 24, also of Athens, Route 4, beat Crawford following a dispute.

Ulbrich, originally scheduled to go on trial next Monday, pleaded guilty in common pleas court Friday and was placed on probation for two years.

Despite gloomy reports from the search area, officials said they have not given up hope for those aboard the four-engine Super-Constellation of the Flying Tiger Line. The plane presumably crashed or ditched after leaving Guam Thursday night for a 1,600-mile hop to Clark Air Force Base near Manila.

lication to change the death certificate, said he cannot substitute his opinion for that of the coroner.

The propeller-driven plane, with a crew of 11 Americans, left Travis Air Force Base in northern California Tuesday carrying 93 U.S. Army men and three South Vietnamese bound for South Viet Nam. The Army men reportedly were to join the U.S. forces bolstering the South Viet Nam government's fight against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The plane made scheduled refueling and service stops at Hawaii, Wake Island and Guam. It was last heard from 270 miles west of Guam, when the pilot radioed a routine message without a hint of trouble.

After fruitless flights Friday, officials tripled the search area and pressed nearly 100 planes and nine ships into systematic criss crossing of more than 250,000 square miles of calm Pacific waters.
